VISITATION FROM SKIES.

A Falling Meteorite Jars Tacoma.

Hurtles Through Space Until it Plunges Into Earth With Awful Force.

Inhabitants of the Near-by Towns Watch Fiery Streak Course Through Air.

Shock First Believed to Be Explosion of Powder Plant Far Away.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (WASH.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Monster meteor, hurtling through space at a terrific speed and plunging with a thunderous roar into the depths of the earth, caused a jar that shook Pierce, Thurston, Lewis and Cowlitz counties at 12:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Persons in widely separated parts of the mountain region report seeing the meteor, but none of them thought to connect it with the explosive-like roar which rattled windows in Tacoma, shook buildings in Wilkenson, forty miles away, and jarred intervening points.

North Puyallup residents report seeing a terrifying lightning bolt shoot with destructive force from a mass of clouds over-hanging Sumner Hill. They now say it did not resemble a lightning bolt so much as a fiery body diving from the sky at such speed that to the eye it suggested a streak of flame.

A. J. Prathers, a pioneer farmer of Lincoln Creek, near Centralia, describes the visitation as a diagonal blaze of white light running athwart the sky like a calcium streak, followed by a hazy stream of apparently gaseous formation. The stream vanished almost as soon as it was sighted, while the ray of fiery blaze descended somewhere midway between Centralia and Tacoma in a northeasterly direction.

All accounts coincide as to the time. City Clerk Hodge's two sons, attending the high school in Centralia, both saw it at different points and their descriptions tallied exactly on their return home. A well-known clergyman of Centralia and two well-known churchmen of Chehalis also saw the phenomenon.

The reason why the sight was witnessed in the cities south of Tacoma and not in Tacoma itself, is doubtless due to the location of the sun in the meridian at the time the phenomenon was witnessed. The meteor could, therefore, be seen from the south, but not from the north.

When the terrific explosion shook Tacoma it was believed the Du Pont powder works, twenty miles away, had blown up or that some cataclysm or gigantic avalanche had shaken Mount Rainier.

It is hoped the meteor will be discovered.

PARTY FACES URGENT ISSUES.

Kansas Republicans Must Line Up for Popular Freaks or Surrender to Democrats.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Republican party in Kansas is treading on very thin ice. The urgent message to the Legislature from all sections of the State is: "Get together and pass the laws the people are demanding or prepare to turn Kansas over to the Democrats in 1912."

Thirty-five of the fifty days of the session have slipped by and still not a single so-called administration or party platform measure has been enacted into law. The woman suffrage amendment was passed by the necessary two-thirds majority in both houses, but it was not demanded by either party. Then came the initiative and referendum pledge, which both parties promised to the people in their platforms. This was fought out on the floor of the Senate and defeated by a majority vote, it required two-thirds for passage.

The big fight of the Legislature is on now over the public utilities bill. Gov. Stubbs has advocated this measure for six years and two years ago the State Senate defeated the bill by a decisive vote. In the recent campaign, it was the principal issue, and candidates were pledged to aid in its passage.

The greater part of the present legislative session has been consumed planning for the next campaign. The latest candidate for Governor brought out by the administration forces is Arthur Capper, owner of the Topeka Capital.

HOLY HOOPESTON UNDER FIRE.

Another Illinois Town Alleged to Have Been Scene of Vote-Buying Frauds During Past Year.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "From Holy Hoopeston, as I live," is what the hotel clerks of Illinois exclaim when a man from that town (in Speaker Cannon's Congress district) registers.

And Holy Hoopeston is to be investigated for alleged election corruption—the town where the Mayor, who happens to be H. C. Finley, draws a salary of 30 cents a year, and where the Aldermen get 25 cents a year, and either turn it back into the treasury or hand it over to charity.

Some persons, possibly prompted by envious feelings, have declared to the members of the grand jury that Hoopeston spends as much money at election times as Danville and in pretty much the same way. And so the jury is going to look for a mask and yank it off the face of Hoopeston, if one be found.

Hoopeston's reputation for many years has been away above par. It is said to be richer to the square inch than any city in Illinois, not excepting Chicago. It meets its annual payroll of $2.50 a year and never even thinks about repudiation.

Hoopeston has a population of about [illegible] and an assessed valuation of $[illegible],000,000. Its public utilities consist of three artesian wells, which produce [illegible] gallons of water a day; fifteen miles of paved streets, twenty-five miles of cement sidewalks, four schools, valued at $200,000; a Carnegie library that cost $12,500, and a City Hall and fire department, which could not be reproduced for less than $10,[illegible]

EXTRA SESSION SURE IF SENATE FAILS TO ACT ON M'CALL BILL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The first authoritative announcement that President Taft will call an extra session, if the Senate fails to action the McCall bill carrying into effect the Canadian reciprocity agreement, came today from Mr. McCall himself, following a visit at the White House.

According to Mr. McCall, the President feels he is under an international obligation to summon an extra session, if necessary, to secure action on the reciprocity agreement.

"That session would be called immediately after the adjournment of Congress at noon March 4. While it is evidently the desire of the President to avoid an extra session by inducing Senators to act upon the agreement, it is the opinion of many that the statement has come too late.

Few Senators predict that action will be taken at this session, though some insist there will be a vote. With appropriation bills in a congested condition, with the Lorimer case pending, the permanent tariff board bill pressing for consideration, the general service pension bill being urged by many Senators and the resolution for the popular election of Senators coming up daily as the unfinished business, it seems the chances for action on the reciprocity agreement are slight. There is some prospect that the Lorimer case may be disposed of Wednesday, following a speech which Senator Lorimer will make in his own behalf, but there is no apparent likelihood of early votes on any of the other measures.

Opponents of the reciprocity agreement in the Senate are viewing with complacency, not to say satisfaction, the congested conditions.

The demands of the public business are such that a vote on reciprocity can be avoided easily without the appearance of a filibuster. The bill probably will not be reported out of the Finance Committee before Thursday at the earliest.

At that time there will remain only seven and a half legislative days of the present session.

Mr. McCall also made the announcement that the President would veto any tariff legislation passed by the Democratic House and approved by a nearly Democratic Senate, if that should be necessary to maintain the Republican party's protective principles. Mr. McCall's statement, which is generally understood to have been approved by the President, is:

"I believe Republican Senators are gradually coming to recognize that, with the certain prospect of an extra session unless they bring the reciprocity bill to a vote, there will be very serious inconvenience and embarrassment, if not danger, to the business and industrial enterprises that are entitled to protection.

"The President feels that he is under an international obligation to summon an extra session. He will do this reluctantly, because it is bringing into power a Democratic house and a Senate much more nearly Democratic than the present Senate.

"But if the Senate should fail to act, the President feels that under his agreement with the Canadian Government to use his utmost endeavor to have the reciprocity agreement confirmed, he will be compelled to call the session immediately. I imagine the Democrats are not anxious for an extra session.

"They would naturally feel that they could not extemporize a revision of the tariff schedules. The light remark that a tariff bill can be prepared over night, or in two weeks, or a month, everyone knows to be utterly unfounded.

"But an extra session is likely to mean a constant agitation and a continuous investigation into the industries that are made possible by protection, and interference with their business that bodes no good for business at large.

"The consequence is that if anyone should prevent action of the reciprocity bill he would be in the position of helping to bring about a condition most injurious to those industries which really need protection. What follows in an extra session will not be the President's fault.

"The President is a protectionist and expects to use the veto power, so far as he properly may, to maintain the party's protective principles. But it would be a misfortune to have this inevitable conflict come nine months ahead of the time when it is naturally due.

"The President is impressed with the extreme importance to the country of the ratification of the agreement and also with the solemn obligation he has undertaken to use his utmost endeavors to have it enacted into law.

"In conclusion, I desire to call attention to the President's speech at Springfield, Ill., in which he said:

"'There are those conservative protectionists who hang back from an approval of this agreement on the ground that it is a departure from the principle of protection and is the opening wedge to let in free trade. My own view is that no step could be taken more in the interest of a reasonable policy of protection than the approval of this treaty.

"'The very existence of the policy depends on our abolition of the tariff where it is not really needed, under the principle of the last Republican platform.

"'If we persist in retaining it in these times of high prices and gradually exhausting food supply, and base our retention on protection principles, we shall rouse an opposition that will know no moderation and will not cease radical economic changes until it has removed from the statute books the last trace of a protective tariff.'"

LOS ANGELES TO MAKE HARBOR DEMONSTRATION NEXT FRIDAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The decision of Los Angeles not to attempt its harbor demonstration before the Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday, but to wait until Friday, fits in nicely with the plans of the members from the South. It gives those at home and those on the ground ample time to prepare for the hearing, and in addition gives them the advantage of San Francisco in the argument for municipal control, which is due Monday.

City Attorney Schenck and E. O. Edgerton, secretary of the Municipal League of Los Angeles, returned tonight in order to provide the Mayor, Council and others with full information as to the status of harbor bills in the Legislature. Such preparation would not have been possible except through postponement.

The impression that Senator Gates is antagonistic to the Hewitt harbor measures grew out of his aid to San Francisco in getting the Hurd pilotage bill referred to the Judiciary Committee last week. While Gates's tactics have given basis for the belief that the Los Angeles Senatorial delegation is not in harmony, that impression is not a true one.

Senator Gates says that his support of the reference was to suspend a parliamentary quarrel that might have, in his judgment, done incalculable harm to the progress of the harbor measures. He also feels that any disputes must be avoided by the Los Angeles delegation while the recall amendment is pending. San Francisco might be able to defeat the judiciary recall, which is the demand of the administration and is the only matter of serious controversy in the measure, so far as the "progressives" are concerned.

"I am trying to keep everything clear for the recall amendment," said Gates today. "When that is passed by the Senate then I will be free to give attention to other important matters. But I do not want any rows, if I can help it, until the amendment is safe."

Senator Gates says he will support the municipal control policy and that he has not had any other purpose.

All the Los Angeles members look to Hewitt to lead the battle, because he is most conversant with the legal phases of the question and is the representative, officially, of Los Angeles in all harbor affairs, being special counsel for the Harbor Commission and the Board of Public Works.

Recently a San Pedro paper has sought to embarass Hewitt by repeating that he is drawing $500 a month as special counsel and his salary as Senator besides. Copies of these papers have been sent to members of the Legislature and comparisons have been made with the case of Senator Finn, who is trying to draw his salary as Sheriff of San Francisco while serving in a dual capacity.

As a matter of fact Hewitt is drawing only his salary as a legislator, and his service here is estimated to represent a heavy sacrifice to him personally.

A committee, composed of Senators Hewitt and Gates and Assemblymen Benedict, Farwell and Randall, has been named by Senator Bell, president of the Los Angeles delegation, to take charge of the reception to the Los Angeles delegates, and this committee will be augmented by such others from the South as are here at the time.

ENTIRE FAMILY EXCEPT FATHER DIES IN WEST VIRGINIA BLAZE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SUTTON (W. Va.) Feb. 19.—Seven persons lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the home of J. B. Hardin in this city early today. Only Mr. Hardin escaped; the six others of his family and a little girl who made her home with the Hardins, perishing in the flames.

The fire was caused by a natural gas grate. When Mrs. Hardin awoke, the entire first floor was ablaze. She awakened her husband, and he seized two of the children and ran for a stairway, which collapsed. The two children were lost while the father was thrown to a point of safety and made his escape.

Mrs. Hardin, seeing the stairway fall, jumped from the second story, receiving injuries from which she died later.

Aged Oklahoman, Who Writes He Was Kidnaped, is Found Wandering Aimlessly Through Rain.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICKASHA (Okla.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After having been missing two days from his grocery store at Bradley, Okla., whence he disappeared under mysterious circumstances, D. L. McMurray, aged 65, was found wandering about in the rain two miles from his home late yesterday evening, his clothing badly torn.

Apparently McMurray is out of his mind and refuses to talk. When his son broke into his store today, following a report that his father has been kidnaped, he found a note signed by the father, which said he was being kidnaped. The note said: "I am bound, gagged and looking into two revolvers. I don't know what they want with me."

An investigation of the case has been started.

RISKS LIFE TO SAVE HER BABE.

KOKOMO (Ind.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Engineer James Brown stopped his train yesterday in half its length at the Union-street crossing. Fragments of a baby cab were strewn across the engine rod. On the crossing stood Mrs. Virginia Harter with a baby in her arms, a frightened child at her side and a prayer on her white lips. The cab caught in a plank, and the engine, approaching at high speed, was almost upon her before she snatched the babe to safety. In rescuing the infant from certain death, Mrs. Harter put her own life in jeopardy and it was only her quick presence of mind that prevented the accident.

STORM.

Oklahoma tonight. Almost five inches has fallen today and, according to the weather bureau there will be no cessation during the night. The snow began to fall yesterday morning, about six inches being on the ground at daylight this morning.

Light snow is melting. The lowest temperature reached today in this section of the country was 26 degrees above zero. The weather will be colder by morning, it is officially predicted. The snow came after a rain of two days.

CONDITIONS RIGHT NEAR ALBUQUERQUE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Feb. 19.—A heavy snow began falling here shortly after dark. The snow is general in this section. A heavy fall of rain which preceded it broke the drought and the livestock districts report the conditions to be the best in years.

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE KENTUCKY BLUE GRASS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Feb. 19.—A sleet, rain and snowstorm which varied between the three elements throughout the day, centered early this evening over the blue grass region of eastern Kentucky and caused heavy damage.

Lexington and Georgetown, Ky., were practically cut off from communication with the outside world, all telegraph and telephone wires going down.

The storm had only slight effect upon railroads.

ALL WIRES DOWN OUT OF FORT WORTH, TEX.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FORTH WORTH (Tex.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All wires between here and Amarillo are out of commission and the few messages which have been received are regarding the heavy snow and are Forth Worth and Denver dispatches to General Manager Gausewits, whose headquarters are in this city. The messages were routed via St. Louis.

Wires went down late Saturday night when the storm broke. Messages received by Gausewits are to the effect that all trains are snowbound and one passenger train between Amarillo and Texline is blockaded by ten feet of snow. Plow have been ordered from Denver and Fort Worth and a large force of men is at work with shovels.

Food supplies have been ordered for the passengers. The temperature all over North Texas fell an average of 50 deg. during Saturday night and early Sunday morning and a severe "norther" is now sweeping the plains.

At Ft. Worth the temperature is 17 above. Saturday afternoon it was so. Preceding the blizzard in the Panhandle, that section and North Texas were visited by the heaviest rains in five years and many washouts are reported by the Santa Fe, Rock Island, Frisco, Texas and Pacific and Ft. Worth and Denver.

Two weeks ago Texas experienced the warmest winter period in its history and fruit had commenced to bud. It is feared much of the fruit crop will suffer as a result of the present cold wave. Towns along the Fort Worth and Denver road, which are now snowbound, reported continuous rain for forty-eight hours up to late Saturday.

COLORADO WELCOMES HEAVY SNOW BLANKET.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Feb. 19.—The snowstorm which visited Colorado, Wyoming and northern New Mexico yesterday, last night continued with intermittent precipitations in widely scattered localities of the Rocky Mountain region today. Reports tonight show that the fall varies from about six inches in portions of the plains country to two and three feet in mountain districts. The snowfall not only relieves the water shortage on stock ranges but assures adequate moisture for beeds of the farmers. Today slightly lower temperatures prevailed, but low records were not approached.

COURTHOUSE SITE UNSTABLE.

Work on Sacramento Building Brought to Sudden Halt by Discovery Foundation is Sinking.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The discovery by testing machines that the ground on the site of the proposed new courthouse on I, Sixth and Seventh streets, is not firm enough to support the tremendous weight of the big structure, with the foundation called for by the specifications has caused a sudden halt in the work.

Architect Herold's assistant has ascertained that the ground in one point sink six inches under a given weight, made of sacks of brickbats upon a platform and used as a tester.

This startling bit of information has ben communicated to Herold, who is in Denver, and his orders to either enlarge the foundation or sink piles must be secured before Contractor Lindgren can proceed further with the work.

A half a dozen testers have been constructed at various parts of the site to determine the firmness of the ground. Several of these showed a pronounced sinkage, one in particular dropping a distance of six inches. When it is considere what would be the result if such sink occured after the construction of the big building, the condition of affairs becomes most serious.

It will be up to the architect to decide what remedy for the trouble is to be used. He may recommend that the foundation base be enlarged or that concrete piles be sunk.

STATEHOOD BOOSTERS START.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

Hart, chairman of the late constitutional convention, passed through El Paso tonight on their way to Washington to urge the granting of Statehood at this session of Congress. UNION EXAMPLE OF CONSISTENCY.

Chicago Has Its Troubles on Moving Day.

Domineering Laborites Rule on Small Lines.

Chair Carrying and Hammer and Nails Barred.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The city, which has made many concessions to union labor, is now reaping the reward of gratitude union labor always bestows upon its friends. Moving troubles, especially those due to jurisdictional pride of labor unions fell on the city officials moving into the new City Hall with a vengeance yesterday. The new furniture, as well as the worn which is being brought from the temporary City Hall, came in strange assortments and in most of the offices there is a shortage of chairs.

"Go down and get some of the several hundred chairs which are stacked in the lower corridor," said one department head to his assistants.

NO CARRYING OF CHAIRS.

"The freight elevator is broken and we can't get on the passenger elevators with them," they explained.

"Then walk up the stairs with them," he insisted.

"We tried that, but a man who said he represented the unions said that it was against the rules to carry chairs up stairs," they replied.

"As long as you can't sit down, get busy taking the excelsior packing off the office fixtures," he finally ordered.

The men responded with alacrity, but had not been busy more than ten minutes when a stranger appeared.

"Have you a union card?" he inquired.

"No, we're city employees in this office," they said.

"Do you want to tie up the entire building by doing the work which other men are here to do?" he demanded.

They stopped work and for lack of chairs also stood up.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE.

In another office the leg of an old typewriter desk was cracked from moving it from the old City Hall, where it had done service for years. One of the boys in the office got a hammer and some nails and started to repair it.

"Hey, there, you'll have to stop that," shouted a man attracted by the noise. "I represent the Carpenters' Union and if there is any of that work to be done we'll do it. The building is still under the jurisdiction of the unions and we'll do all the work in it."

Only two strikes in the building were operative today. The usual daily average is higher. The linoleum layers were not working, with the result that in many of the offices the linoleum is lying loose on the floor or standing in rolls in the corner. The men fixing the electric chandeliers and lights also were in a controversy.

SINS TO OBTAIN PRISON CELL.

Denver Outcast, Unable to Get Work and Too Proud to Beg, Seeks Penitentiary Sentence.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hungry, without a home, blind in one eye and with the sight of his other rapidly failing, unable to secure employment and too proud to beg, John E. Kemp, aged 59, wants to be sent to a Federal prison for the rest of his life. With the purpose of compelling the United States to send him to a penitentiary, he has counterfeited coins, and this morning was walking the streets, searching for the United States Marshal's office.

There he intended to show the coins he had made and surrender to answer to a charge of counterfeiting. People of whom he asked the way to the marshal's office persuaded him to wait at least until Monday, and he reluctantly did so, but with no hope that there would be a turn for the better in his affairs.

Kemp is not a beggar. He wants work. He cannot find employment. He has walked the streets of Denver for nearly two weeks begging for work and refusing alms. He cares not what the nature of the employment. He is willing to wash dishes. He has offered to do anything and has begged for a chance, but that chance has been denied him. Now he wants to be sent to prison for the rest of his life.

Investigation shows his reputation is good and that he is highly deserving.

BEACH PIRATES LOOT WRECK.

Even Suit Cases and Personal Belongings of Drowned Sailors Stolen Near Astoria, Ore.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ASTORIA (Or.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Beach pirates have stolen practically everything washed ashore from the wrecked gasoline schooner Oshkosh, even ripping open the suit-cases of the drowned sailors and robbing them of their contents. In some manner the pilferers managed to get in possession of the bulk of the freight, not sparing parts of the vessel that could be broken up and converted into use, but the stealing of the freight and other things is not of so much consequence," said Engineer George May, the only survivor of the Oshkosh this mornin.

"It seems incredible that any one could steal personal belongings from the dead. We have been keeping a close watch for any suit cases or grips which might come ashore in the hope that they might contain letters disclosing the residence of the sailors' parents so we could communicate with them. They have all been stolen."

One body from the Oshkosh came ashore today, that of W. R. Dean, sailor.

NAVY DEMANDS REINSTATEMENT OF REVOLUTIONIST.

Government Refuses to Grant Concessions, and Removal of Minister of Marine is Threatened by Extremists. Two Agitators Expelled From New Republic.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LISBON, Feb. 19.—Relations between the government and the navy have again reached almost the breaking point, as the result of a demand from the navy for the reinstatement and the appointment to the command of the battleship Almirante Reis, of Capt. Jose Cerejo, one of the naval heroes of the revolution, who had been retired by former Premier Franco because of alleged disloyalty.

The Minister of Marine objects to Capt. Cerejo holding this command, as he believes such a concession would place the government in the hands of the extremists.

The navy has expressed a determination to remove the Minister of Marine, Amaro Azevedo Gomez, by force and the Minister of the Interior, Antonio Almeida, who is very popular, has exhausted every argument to induce the extremists to exercise patience, pointing out that such a step inevitably would result in cival war. The extremists, however, stand firm.

Jose Asevedo, formerly minister of foreign affairs, and Coutinho Chagas, also a former member of the anarchist cabinet, have been expelled on the ground that their presence in Portugal would constitute a danger for the new institutions.

HISTORIC MANSION TO PASS.

Dynamite Will Be Used to Destroy House in Which Dolly Madison Lived in Washington.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dynamite is to be used to destroy Ruthven Lodge, a historic house in which Dolly Madison lived and where in the early days of the republic many notable fashionable events were held.

The forward march of improvement has made it necessary to remove the old structure, but it remains in such a perfect state of preservation that it has been found impracticable to demolish it by hand.

Ruthven Lodge was famous a hundred years ago for its brilliant balls and receptions. Historical facts and stories handed down through the century lend color to the belief that it was to this mansion that Dolly Madison and President Madison fled when the British burned the Capitol.

VESSELS REACHING TACOMA ALL REPORT ENCOUNTERING STORMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Caught by a huge wave that boarded the ship and swept from stem to stern, washing everything movable from the deck, Capt. Neil Murchison, master of the schooner Melrose, arriving today from Kahului, narrowly escaped losing his life last Sunday in the recent disastrous storm.

Capt. Murchison was standing near the cabin taking the sun when the big roller broke over the bow. A wall of green water swept aft, picking him up like a feather and sweeping him over the counter. By the barest chance, he caught a stanchion as he passed, hanging on desperately till the wave had passed, then dragging himself back to safety. He had not time to drop the sextant and it was saved. This was 150 miles off Cape Flattery.

The barkentine James Tuft of San Francisco, Capt. August Friberg reached Port Angeles in tow of the life saving cutter Snohomish last night. The Tuft sailed from Tacoma for Sidney February 3. On the eleventh 250 miles southwest of Cape Flattery, a heavy southeast storm was encountered through which the vessel labored for several days. Her cargo shifted, giving her a dangerous list and the hull sprang a leak.

By the thirteenth, his crew exhausted by constant labor at the pumps and his vessel water-logged, Capt. Friberg gave orders to put about and stand for the strait. Capt. Friberg has with him his wife and two small children. Today he was towed to Winslow to discharge cargo and repair.

Schooner Golden Shore, fifty-one days out from Callao, reached Aberdeen last night. The schooner arrived off Grays Harbor Feburary 11, but the gale that was sweeping down the coast compelled Capt. Christensen to put out to sea. During the gale the schooner lost a part of her sails and rigging.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HOUSE MEMBERS KEEP UP ALL NIGHT FIGHT ON WAR CLAIMS.

Long Filibuster Against Omnibus Bill Broken Late in Afternoon by Temporary Truce and Adjournment Until This Morning—Plan on Foot to Shift Onus for Extra Session, If One is Called, Onto the Senate.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A truce entered into shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon brought the long filibuster in the house against the omnibus war claims bill temporarily to an end. The agreement was reached following an intermission of three hours devoted to memorial services and eulogies to the late Senator Clay of Georgia, and the late Representative Brownlow of Tennessee.

These services, occuring at midday of a Sunday, seemed to put the House combatants in a more peaceable frame of mind. A recess was ordered until 10 o'clock tomorrow a.m., when the fighting will be resumed tomorrow.

When the House convenes an effort will be made to adopt a rule shutting off further debate. It will be utterly fought by a new band of filibusters, made up of former advocates of the measure as it came from the Senate.

Representative Mann of Illinois, who conducted the original filibuster, ended his fight when he succeeded in having the old French spoliation and the navy yard over-time claims stricken out. This was accomplished when the House voted to substitute the House bill for the Senate bill.

The House bill carries only War claims which have been adjudicated in the Court of Claims.

The Democrats, who were particularly interested in the war claims affecting Southern persons, were opposed to the spoliation claims. When they voted to strike out the later however, hey lost the support of the Republican members who favored the omnibus bill, because it included the French claims.

NEW FILIBUSTER.

Realizing that the new bill probably had not the slightest chance of passing the Senate, Mr. Mann ceased his filibuster.

It was immediately taken up, however, by Representatives Gardner of Massachusetts, Bennett and Parsons of New York and several New England members who said unless the bill contained the spliation claims it should not pass. They will offer long amendments to the House bill tomorrow unless the rule excludes them.

There was talk tonight that a general rule would be adopted providing for the consideration of all bills during the remainder of the session under suspension of the rules. This means that debate will be cut down and that measures will be rushed through as fast as possible.

This action would dispose effectually of rumors that some of the House leaders are planning to bring about an extra session. If an extra session is called, as now seems probable, it is believed the House will be in a position to throw the entire blame for it on the Senate.

The House remained in session all last night and until a few minutes before 4 o'clock this afternoon. Practically nothing was acomplished in the last twelve hours of the sitting except the pronouncement of eulogies, which were permitted by unanimous consent.

LONG WAIT FOR QUORUM.

The remainder of the day was passed in waiting for a quorum. Seargeants-at-arms were sent through the city at 6 o'clock this morning. Generally speaking they did not serve their warrants on members until along towards 4 o'clock. Even then there were no physical arrests, the members being quite willing to return. Half of the Democrats had been sent home to sleep, so as to relieve at noon their fatigued comrades, who were "holding the fort."

The waits for a quorum were marked by occasional disorders and confusions. Humorous speeches and songs, however, occupied much of the time. Once several of the Democrats organized a mock house in the rear of the chamber, elected Mr. Hughes of New Jersey, Speaker, and proceeded to pass some of the most remarkable measures, "Speaker" Hughes "recognizing" himself most of the time.

Representative Edwards of Georgia stirred the House today by declaring that in the height of the debate last night a "lobbyist" for the French claims came into the Speaker's lobby and to the very doors of the chamber in an attempt to pass some papers to a member of the House.

"My information, derived from a good source," he said, "is that the gentleman is Mr. Parsons. Representative Foster of Illinois, a Democrat in this House, intercepted this lobbyist when he was attempting to send a pamphlet to Mr. Parsons."

Mr. Bennet, speaking for his colleague, Mr. Parsons, who was absent, said:

"If it be a crime for my colleague to seek information concerning matters pending before this House, then I wish my Democratic friends would commit a few more crimes on their side of the chamber."

BREAK FOR BREAKFAST.

At daylight, a sleepy lot of individuals sat at their desks and waited while the leaders kept watch to avoid being trapped by the other side. One member in, the front row was sound asleep, and numerous members were stretched out asleep in the Democratic cloak room.

When, at 5:20 a.m., Mr. Thomas of North Carolina, made a point of no quorum existed. On motion of Mr. Heflin of Alabama, the sergeant at arms was directed to arrest all absentees and bring them to the bar of the House. Members became impatient for breakfast toward 9 o'clock and a formal request by Mr. Candler of Mississippi for leave of absence to go to breakfast struck a popular chord and in a few minutes the House chamber was nearly deserted, only the Republican and Democratic whips and several lieutenants remaining to watch one another.

To Break Deadlock.

MARTIN W. LITTLETON JUMPS IN NEW YORK FIGHT FOR TOGA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Martin W. Littleton, newly elected Democratic Representative from Theodore Roosevelt's home district, announced tonight his candidacy for the United States Senate to succeed Chaucey M. Depew and supplemented his formal statement with the verbal declaration that he would take his cause before the people. He will speak in Brooklyn Tuesday night, in Manhattan, Wednesday night and perhaps thereafter up State. He made known his candidacy through a letter to Lieut.-Gov. Conway.

Mr. Littleton said he came forward now because he had become convinced neither Mr. Sheehan nor Mr. Shepard can be elected. They had been the leading candidates when the Legislature convened and hitherto he had declined to dispute their pre-eminence.

He chose to write to Lieut.-Gov. Conway because the latter presides over the election of United States Senators and therefore a communication addressed to him would come before the joint Assembly in a manner befitting the proprieties and the legalities demanded.

William F. Sheehan and Charles E. Murphy were perhaps the two persons most interested in the news of Mr. Littleton's candidacy.

"This is the first I've heard of it," declared Mr. Sheehan. "No, I did not know he intended to come out as a candidate, though of course his name has been mentioned. I have not seen his letter and do not want to see it. There is nothing for me to say."

MURPHY RETICENT.

Charles F. Murphy was at Good Ground, L. I., and would make no comment until he had read the letter.

Senator Franklin D. Roosevelt, the insurgent leader, said:

"I hardly think I shall have any opinions on the worth of Mr. Littleton's candidacy until I have consulted with my colleagues of the minority. Personally, of course, everybody likes Martin Littleton and all Democrats recognize that he has done effective work for the party.

"The vote tomorrow at Albany probably will not show the sentiment of the minority toward Mr. Littleton, nor perhaps will that of Tuesday."

Mr. Littleton was emphatic that he had not consulted with Mr. Murphy about his candidacy.

By way of introduction, Mr. Littleton says he is in receipt of a letter in which he is asked to state whether he is a candidate for United States Senator.

"Before the Legislature assembled," he continued, "I was asked by some members to declare myself a candidate. At that time, Mr. Shepard and Mr. Sheehan were active and leading candidates, and I naturally expected the choice would fall upon one of those gentlemen and hence declined to do so.

WANTS ACTION.

"We are nearing the fifth week of balloting and it does not seem at all likely that either will be chosen. I have made up my mind to submit my name as a candidate to the Legislature of the State, and, in doing so, I wish the members and the people who sent them there to know where I stand, and for what I stand.

"As a Democratic party in position of the Democratic party in the country calls for the election of some one who will not only insure peace in the party councils, but whose election will be in accord with the popular will of the State.

"Above and beyond this purely party demand, the problems which confront the country, upon whose right solution its welfare so greatly depends, require that the man who is called into such a high service should have the ability to work, the courage and freedom to advocate and the single-minded devotion to support the public interest and the public welfare."

Mr. Littleton outlines the problems before the Federal government as he sees them, emphasizing at the outset that with but one exception, he has supported the nominees of the Democratic party and that he has a high belief in the party so long as it has for its purpose the upbuilding of the country and not the spoils of office. He refers to the problem of supervising corporations and railroads which he says must be regulated by the government when they become national in character.

Taking up the tariff question, Mr. Littleton says he believes there are certain "high-minded Republicans who deplore the passage of the Payne-Aldrich bill and who believe that the tariff should honestly be revised."

"The question should be dealt with resolutely by a Democratic Congress. Not in a manner so precipitate as to destroy the business, but through a settled method in the hands of a permanent tariff commission.

Duties on the necessaries of life, he believes, should be removed at once without waiting for a commission to report.

For the reciprocity agreement with Canada, Mr. Littleton has high praise. In conclusion, he recommends the parcels post system and advocates currency reform.

The last words he reserves for what he believes to be the duty of a Representative or a Senator. This, he says, is to represent the whole country, even if he encounters the criticism of his own people.

Partial View of the Crowd That Attended Preliminary Opening Van Nuys Townsite, Yesterday.

Hundreds of persons, without any special solicitation, selected desirable lots and made first payments. The site is level as a ballroom floor, and far-sighted persons are confident that the potential city of today will be a thriving community within a short space of time. The investors reached the place by special steam trains and in automobiles.

Fun Ahead.

PUBLIC APOLOGY DEMANDED OF MEMBER OF BRITISH COMMONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An exciting scene is expected in the House of Commons on Monday when Laurence Ginnell, a member from Southwest Meather, is called to account for giving for publication to a newspaper a private letter to him from Josiah C. Wedgewood, a member from Newcastle-Under-Tyne. In the letter Wedgewood sympathizes with Ginnell in his recent attacks on the partiality of James William Lowther, Speaker of the House of Commons.

Ginnell is generally regarded as dull and egotistical. In the interest of all concerned, the Speaker declines to see Ginnell when he rises to get the floor and Ginnell, infuriated, insulted the Speaker recently.

Wedgewood is a radical of amiable temperament, with the fixed idea that the taxation of land values is the only subject worth mentioning in Parliament. His speeches are tiresome, and the Speaker has not often permitted him to weary the House by addressing it. When Ginnell attacked the Speaker the feeling of the entire House was against him; Wedgewood wrote to him, telling him he had taken no part in the jeering with which his complaint had been received. Wedgewood added that he, too, considered both Speaker Lowther and the chairman of committees, Alfred Emmett, grossly unfair, and was planning to impeach them by motion.

It was a private, sympathetic letter but Ginnell published it. Wedgewood will make a full apology and retraction on Monday, but Ginnell can be relied upon to refuse to do either. If he refuses to make the amends as he says he will, he will either be suspended for the session or sent to prison. He has served six months in Ireland for driving off the landlord of his grazing ranches.

To the Rescue.

BRITISH BANKER GIVES STRONG INDORSEMENT TO RECIPROCITY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 19.—That Canada has a good bargain in the reciprocity agreement with the United States and that it will stimulate rather than check the investment of British capital in the Dominion, is the opinion of S. A. Greenfell, son-in-law of Earl Grey, the Governor-General, and an English banker with Canadian connections.

In a cable message from London, which reached here today, Mr. Greenfell is quoted as giving the following interview on reciprocity:

"From my recent trip to Canada, I am convinced Canadians fully realize the progress and prosperity that have accrued to Canadian manufacturing and agricultural industries from cheap money sent out at a rate of more than £30,000,000 a year by English investors.

"I am confident the first thing taken into consideration by the Canadian ministers would be whether this reciprocity arangement with the United States might effect securities against which these large investments have been made.

"I believe it will prove of inestimable advantage to Canada.

"The future prosperity of Canada must be largely based on the soundness of agricultural industry, and the enhanced value of western farm lands that will result from reciprocity will mean prosperity to English investors. The new markets that reciprocity will open to the farmers of the west will cause greater demands for the products of the factories of the east.

"Canadian statesmen have taken advantage of the situation. It appears to me they have secured splendid terms for Canad in exchange for giving Americans what Americans could have taken for themselves at any time by simply lowering their tariff wall without asking permission from Canada."

Faker!

DREXEL BOUT WAS ONLY BIT OF "SPOOFING," DECLARES BERESFORD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Hon. Bobby Beresford, brother of Lord Decies, woh married Vivien Gould, admitted that the tale of his alleged fight with Tony Drexel, in which the latter was supposed to have been bested in the third or fourth round— 'is Ludship couldn't remember which— was a "bit of rare 'spoofing' with the American press men."

This was after Beresford had received ten additional challenges by mail, making sixteen in all since the account of his "fight" with Drexel was published. It was also after Battling Nelson had dropped in at the Waldorf-Astoria to inquire if " 'is ludship cared to take on a 'rank amateur' for a few rounds."

TURNS DOWN "BAT."

Beresford indignantly tore to shreds the challenges that came through the mails and denied himself to Battling Nelson, who went away, smilingly announcing that he had "called the society chap's bluff."

In abdicating his title to the amateur society championship, Beresford left hurriedly for Philadelphia late in the day, after having bid bon voyage to Lord and Lady Decies, who departed today for Egypt. Over Sunday Beresford will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Graham at their country seat near Lancaster, Pa.

While waiting for the taxi that was to carry him from the Waldorf to the train, Beresford refused to discuss the possibility of a match between himself and Warren Barbour, amateur heavyweight champion of America.

"SHAME OF SOCIETY."

Lord Camoys, who with the monocled Lord Alastair Graham was left behind at the Waldorf by Beresford, had certain complaints to utter tonight regarding the handling of the news o fthe alleged encounter between Drexel and Beresford.

"My word," complained Lord Camoys, "its a shame for papers to print pictures showing society ladies gathered about two gentlemen who are merely sparring."

MONTANAN WANTS ALFALFA.

Buys Big Tract Near Puente and Will Plant It to Grass and Walnuts.

PUENTE, Feb. 19.—One of the larger realty deals just consummated here is the sale by George E. Cross to Robert C. Smith of fifty acres just north of the town. The consideration is said to have been $10,000. Mr. Smith comes to Puente from Stevensville, Mont., where he has large property interests. He proposes to immediately improve his fine property with suitable buildings and will set out the entire acreage to walnuts and alfalfa.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Puente now boasts an up-to-date garage owning its own lot and building. Its proprietors, Freer and Tucker, are prepared to do anything in automobile repair work.

J. W. Crouch has sold his well-improved ten-acre walnut grove to Edward S. Tripp of Banning.

The furnace for the new grammar school building was so badly damaged in shipment that the opening of the new structure will be delayed some little time pending the arrival of a second furnace from the factory.

Beat and Pennebaker, good roads contractors, have their steam roller and other equipment making some slight repairs in the macadam road between this place and Pomona.

The Dodson brothers have moved their barber shop into the new building just built for them at the corner of First and Main streets.

H. M. Houser of Covina was a visitor to Puente Thursday to attend a directors' meeting of the First National Bank.

H. R. Link of the First National Bank, has purchased a Maxwell runabout.

NEW INDIANA CONSTITUTION.

Much Criticism Aroused by Unusual Methods by Which Freak Legislation Tries to Get Foothold.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The presentation of a new constitution to the people of Indiana through the Legislature, its adoption by a decisive majority as a caucus measure and its proposed submission to the people for ratification, with the approval of but one General Assembly, constitute such a departure from long-established usage that even in these times of lightning-like changes, some persons are amazed.

The provisions that are calling out a great deal of criticism are those which are believed to show populistic tendencies and there is genuine surprise that these should have a place in a constitution drawn up by the Governor.

It gives the Legislature a right to enact laws for the referendum, initiative and recall, and it may do this even with regard to officers whose tenure is fixed by the constitution itself. Only judges of courts are excepted from the recall, all State, county, township and municipal officers being included.

Another change relates to the Legislature. That body is now composed of fifty Senators and one hundred Representatives. The latter are to be increased to 120. The present per diem of members is $5 and mileage. The new instrument makes the per diem $10 or exactly double what it now is. The length of the sessions, now limited to sixty days, is increased to 105 days.

EYES ON LORIMER'S SHOES.

Many Illinois Candidates Are Willing, But None Will Say So Until Senate Reaches Decision.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The news from Washington that a vote is expected on the Lorimer case next week has started an underground current of surmise here as to who will become candidates in case the present assembly has to elect a Senator, and a close watch is being kept on developments at Washington.

On the surface, at least, no one is building any fences or laying any wires, a feeling of delicacy prompting party leaders to refrain from activity until a verdict is reached by the United States Senate. It is difficult to get any of the Assembly leaders to discuss, even in strictest confidence, the politics that might arise in case the vote goes against Senator Lorimer.

If the seat is declared vacant, however, it is certain the State House and political circles in Illinois will be plunged into one of the hottest fights of many a year.

In the gossip for weeks past several men have been regarded as possible candidates in case there should be a vacancy. Among them are: Congressman William B. McKinley of Champaign, Congressman Frank O. Lowden of Oregon, who retires from the house in March; Gov. Deneen; William J. Calhoun, Minister to China; Lawrence Y. Sherman, former Lieutenant Governor and present head of the Board of Administration; Orville F. Berry, chairman of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission; Bernard A. Eckert of Chicago; Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo, former speaker, and Richard Yates, former Governor.

RUSSIANS ON WAY.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—A special dispatch from St. Petersburg says a rumor is current that a whole army corps of 36,000 men is preparing to reoccupy Kulja, a district of Chinese Turkestan.

"Colonial Week"

—It is our intention to make the coming week a memorable one in the display and sale of Colonial furniture. No store in the United States offers a more representative or complete selection of beautiful Colonial reproductions in all the various lines of furniture, than the stock we carry. During the coming week, we shall afford an opportunity to choose from a large variety of pieces at prices which must prove a strong inducement to those who are interested in beautiful furniture. The home without its representation of Colonial furniture is indeed unusual. A home might be furnished entirely in Colonial style, and in richness and good taste, would be hard to excel. In part, combining with the sturdy mission style furniture it becomes peculiarly appropriate for the furnishing of a home in California.

Many Special Offerings

—Among our splendid showing of Colonial reproductions this week you will find Virginia sofas, four-post Colonial beds, pie-crust turn over-top tables, Colonial serving tables, copies of old bureaus and secretaries, Highboy chiffoniers, Napoleon beds and dressers, Consol tables and desks, double deck tea tables, Martha Washington rockers and Fireside easy chairs, candles sticks and book blocks, etc., all of which are typical of the best American lives.

—Special prices will prevail on offerings in all of the articles mentioned in the foregoing paragraph, and many exceptional values will be found during the coming week.

GOLD DUST
Digs Deep After Germs

GOLD DUST not only cleans but sterilizes.

Soap merely washes over the surface, leaving a greasy film behind it.

GOLD DUST "goes to the bottom," and insures absolute purity and sanitary safety. Why not sanatize your home, as well as clean it?

Soap needs muscle help; GOLD DUST does all the hard part of the task without your assistance.

GOLD DUST is a good, honest, vegetable-oil soap, to which are added other purifying materials in just the right proportions to cleanse easily, vigorously, and without harm to fabric, utensils or hand.

Foolish, indeed, is the woman who tries to get along without GOLD DUST.

Do not use Soap, Naphtha, Borax, Soda, Ammonia or Kerosene with Gold Dust. Gold Dust has all desirable cleansing qualities in a perfectly harmless and lasting form.

SEALS SHOW WELL IN WORK.

Mohler Much Pleased With Actions of Recruits.

Little Bob M'Cauley Makes Hit With Country Fans.

Team Expects to Be Stronger This Year Than Last.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MODESTO, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Twenty-one men, not including trainers, a manager, war correspondents and snapshooters, the Seals are snugly tucked away in the land of raisins and alfalfa tonight. As calmly as if they had been playing ball here for years, the San Francisco players have accepted Modesto and started at their task of getting into shape for the pennant season this afternoon as if the summer was half over and they were getting into their togs at Recreation Park.

It's too early to make any forecast as to the way the team will shape up, but there is little question but that the squad met with popular approval and that Bob McCauley, in particular, caught the eyes of the bleacherites, of whom there were upwards of 500 to see the initial workout.

McCauley is a little roly-poly chap, adorned with red hair and an inherited tendency to play ball. It comes natural to this Wisconsin leaguer, and although today was the first time he felt a bat in his hands for several months, he made a name for himself. He didn't do much fielding, because throwing on opening day was tabooed by Kid Mohler, but he hit the ball with a purpose and his name was on everyone's lips after the practice.

It is only fair to George Weaver, the other new infielder who hails from the Tri-State League, to say that he had no opportunity to shine. His uniform wasn't on hand and when he did manage to dig up a costume, he was late in arriving at the park.

Everybody was willing to go to work with a vim, but Mohler and the veterans understood the danger of too much work and cautioned the youngsters to go easy. As it was, Weaver, Harris and Ward, a young infielder, who is regarded as most promising material by Mohler, were at it long after the balance of the squad had returned to the hotel and had to be called off by their captain.

Kid Mohler, who arrived at noon Saturday from Los Angeles, reports himself in good shape. He says that his leg is not bothering him and that he expects to have a good season.

"From what I can see of the club," he said, "the Seals will be stronger than last year. The outfield ought to be in better shape for this man Powell looks to be lively. With McCauley, Weaver, Ward and McArdle to pick from, the infield will be good and strong and our pitching staff, strengthened by the recruits, will be "right" from the start. Easterly is in fine shape now and could go in tomorrow and pitch a game if he had to."

Maurice Ward, infielder, is a boy with a history al of his own. He wants to be a professional ball player and he has so much confidence in himself that he is betting his expenses he will make good. Ward hails from Kansas City, but has a brother in Los Angeles, who asked Mohler to give the young fellow a chance. Mohler agreed and Ward said he would stand his own expenses.

TURNERS MEDAL SHOOT.

Ch. Krempel Wins Champion Medal From Singer by Small Margin—Good Average For Scores.

The regular monthly medal shoot of the Turn Verein Germania, drew forth a fair sized crowd of marksmen to Schuetzen Park yesterday, and some very fair scores were made, although the conditions for shooting were not of the best. Ch. Krempel won the champion medal from Joe Singer by the small margin of one point, with three other championship marksmen very close up. The medal winners were as follow: Max Friese, first-class; Hy Pfirrmann, second-class; Frank Huebsch, third-class; Joh von Breton, fourth-class.

The scores follow; Ch. Krempel, 199; Joe Singer, 198; Wm. Frick, 197; Max Friese, 196; J. W. Steinbrecher, 191; A. Pachmeyer, 189; Otto Pachmeyer, 175; Hy. Pfirrmann, 169; Frank Huebsch, 159; Joh von Breton, 140; Harry Sloan, 130; Mrs. Ch. Krempel, 121; Walter Clement, 124; A. Mass, 121.

WOLFE BEATS MARTIN.

Local Roller Skater Wins Four Mile Race From Northern Crack by Very Small Margin.

Fred Wolfe, the crack Los Angeles roller skater, defeated Fred Martin of San Francisco in the four-mile race of their championship series yesterday at Palms rink after Martin had slacked up to wait for him when he tripped and fell in the second mile.

The time for the four miles was 12m. 26s. and the fastest mile was made in 3m. 14s. Both racers have been resting at Manhattan Beach during the past week after three weeks of racing on the local rink and their form in the match yesterday showed the benefit of the rest. Both racers finished strong and scarcely five yards separated them as they crossed the mark.

Martin won the one, two and three-mile contests in the series which they have been pulling off. He has been winning with more difficulty as the races increased in length, however, and Wolfe won on endurance in the four-mile event.

They passed each other several times during the long grind. Wolfe forged ahead of his opponent for the last time in the twelfth lap of the fourth mile. In doing so he tipped one of the miniature pylons and several spectators claimed a foul but it was not allowed by the judges.

The five-mile race, which is the last of the series, will be pulled off next Sunday afternoon at the Palms rink.

Teams Break Even.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The McCormicks split even in today's ball games. The first was an eleven inning affair won by the McCormicks by a score of 3 to2. The second game was tame, San Diego winning by a score of 10 to 7. Batteries, first game, Lafferty and Grindle, Carson and Waring, second game, Hunt and Grindle, Davis and Waring.

Opinions Waver.

REAGAN STOCK ON THE BULGE.

NORTHERN PUG FINDS FAVOR IN EYES OF BUGS.

Rumors of Rivers' Condition Will Not Down Although His Work Does Not Indicate Anything Wrong—Other Scrappers Please Spectators in Sunday Training.

Local fight bugs have changed their opinions about the "easy" victory of Young Rivers over Jimmy Reagan at the Vernon arena next Wednesday and many of them seem to be of the opinion that Rivers has a Tarter hooked. This view is heightened by the rumors of Rivers not being in the best of health although his actions in training belie this.

Rivers showed well in his work yesterday before a large crowd of fight bugs at the Vernon training quarters and he may show as well or better when he gets into the ring. He did road running, shadow fighting, rope skipping and boxing with brother Andy and many of his friends cannot see anything but him in the coming fight.

Reagan is not overlooking anything in his work and is almost sure of being able to make the local champion jump out of the ring. He is said to be a regular bull dog for punishment and as he held Monte Attell and Jimmy Walsh even he is not to be passed by. When the bell rings he has a habit of dashing over into his opponent's corner and tearing in for dear life and in addition to being a boxer is a hard puncher. He has the local bugs guessing for dear life and he seems strong enough to eat up two like Rivers. If the young Mexican is not in the best of condition he may find that he has bitten off more than he can chew.

Reagan asserts that he has gone against some tough ones in his career and has been able to bring out the "yellow" in them if they had any. He says he is going to do this with Rivers.

Lauder is apparently in fine fettle and the way he hammered Roy Page around the ring at Doyle's yesterday leads his friends to believe that he will have an easy time with Mike Memsic on Wednesday. Memsic by the way will be making his first appearance in Los Angeles and he will naturally endeavor to win for he wants other fights here and is figuring on being in the semi-final when Wolgast meets brother George on March 17.

Jimmy Austin looks good for his battle with Chico and did some splendid work yesterday boxing with Cole of the Los Angeles Athletic club. On the contrary Chico expects to again get the verdict over Austin and there you are.

Briefly, if Rivers shows up in good shape next Wednesday the local bugs should see a slashing battle with Reagan and if this fight ends quickly there will doubtless be enough good things left on the programme to fill out the afternoon's sport.

New Star Arrives.

H. B. Lean, coast champion at three-cushion billiards, arrived in this city last night and is open to meet any player at his game, Seymour preferred. Lean has beaten such good ones as De Oro, Hueston and Jevne and about a month ago defeated Joe Carney in San Francisco for the coast title by the very close score of 150 to 149. The stake was a $200 side bet and the entire gate receipts.

Something Doing.

SOCCER GAME MAIMS EIGHT.

Almost Dozen Players Hurt in Rough Contest.

Thistles and Rangers Tie in Snappy Battle.

Gorfunkle of Former Team is Knocked Senseless.

Thistles, 2; Rangers, 2.

Eight soccer players were injured yesterday at Praeger Park, when the Thistles held the Rangers eleven to a tie score in the championship game of the soccer league. The tie may be played off.

Intercolegiate football in its most barbarous form never caused such a long list of sprained ankles, cracked heads, twisted knees and caved-in slats as that contest in the mild English game of soccer.

The championship of Southern California was at stake. Every player was in the game to win, regardless of bumps and bruises and the strenuous football that resulted was responsible for the large number of injured contestants.

Once C. Burleigh of the Rangers and Gorfunkle, the Thistles captain, came together in a head-on collision, with a thud that caused the spectators to wince and shudder as the little Thistle player keeled over unconscious.

Goalkeeper McCubbin, for the Rangers, had his ankle badly sprained in a scrimmage; Harold Brown had a link put in his solar plexus, which knocked him out of the game temporarily; S. Brown had his arm badly twisted, and Carlton and J. Mitchell each had to call time out to doctor up bruised shins.

Each team made one point on a penalty kick. Low, the Ranger player with an international record, made the remaining point for his side. He butted the ball between the goal posts with his head, after a tight scrimmage in front of the bar. Corkill shot the Thistles' second point from a position well out near the touch line.

Team work was the feature of the Thistles' playing, while their opponents showed strong individual form. Two points were rolled up by the Thistles early in the first half and it seemed like a sure victory from the class of ball they were playing.

The Rangers began to come up strong in the latter part of the period and during the second half had all the best of the play. They made several shots at the goal, which missed by only a narrow margin. Once the ball hit the upright and bounced outside.

Each team has gone through the season undefeated. It is likely that the Thistles aggregation will be declared the winners of the Southern California honors, however, as they have a small lead in the percentage column, owing to the fact that the Rangers were docked two points for playing Smith early in the season after he had been disqualified.

The lineup:

Rangers.	Position.	Thistles.
McCubbin	Goal	Burdon
Mitchell	R.F.	Munro
Meldrum	L.F.	McDougall
Mellor	R.H.	Laughlin
Burleigh	C.H.	Milford

Mitchell	I.R.	Gorfunkle

GIANTS WIN AND LOSE.

GOOD SUNDAY CONTEST.

The Giants and Doyles played two rattling games of ball yesterday at the Vernon grounds and broke even, the Doyles winning the first game 2 to 0 and the Giants the second, 5 to 4. Oscar Jones pitched shut-out ball in the first game against Williams, who was taken out near the finish and Mooney put in.

Ferraris heaved the second game of seven innings for the Doyles and lost in the first inning when a combination of hits and errors gave the Giants four runs. The one-armed player Ely was on second base for the Doyles and his work was a great surprise to the 700 fans present. Bacom and Kirkpatrick were the fielding stars with fine left handed catches of hard balls.

Long Amateur Game.

The longest and one of the best amateur games played in Southern California was seen yesterday at Redondo Beach when the Yeomans of Los Angeles beat Redondo Beach by a score of 2 to 1 in sixteen innings. Combs pitched for the winners and fanned nineteen men. The Redondo Beach fans declare that their team lost because their hoodoo Happy Hogan sat in the grand stand. They say they have lost every time Hogan attended a game at the beach town.

Fraser High Gun.

The medal shoot of the Los Angeles Revolver Club yesterday proved very interesting and resulted in some high scores. Fraser made a 98, which is extraordinary even in practice. In the medal match Packard won with a score of 90, having more "tens" than E. G. Richardson, who made a total of 91, with but eleven "tens." W. E. Smith was third with 80. A team match shoot between Fraser-Royce and Packard-Richardson was won by the former team, the score being 544 to 536. In the practice shoot Fraser made 92, Royce 91, Packard 90, Richardson 89 and W. E. Smith 85.

Holiday Motor Card.

The programme for the motorcycle races at the Coliseum on Wednesday will be one for professionals, principally, for all the fast amateurs have been made professional. The main attraction will be a three-cornered match race between Whittler, McNeil and Balke. Whittler will ride a Merkel, Balke an Indian and McNeil a Thor machine. Another race which should be full of interest will be a six-mile free-for-all to be run in two heats. The final will be a twelve-mile race. Graves was figured on as a contestant, but is booked to ride at San Bernardino on Wednesday.

San Diego For Giants.

The Leland Giants, which is the colored ball team that has been here all winter is to go to San Diego today or tomorrow to play a series of games with the Grifer team. The Giants expect to return here next week to play a series of games with some team, probably the Occidentals.

Breen to Flit Soon.

Dick Breen, who has played a little winter ball here this year, is to leave Thursday for Hot Springs, Ark., where the Cincinnati team to which he now belongs is to train.

Another Bush Grows.

CONNIE MACK SIGNS COLLEGE PLAYER FROM SANTA CLARA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Devereaux J. Peters, formerly first baseman of the Santa Clara College baseball team and a member of the Jesuit College track team in 1908, has signed a contract with Connie Mack to play with the Philadelphia American League baseball team, according to an announcement from him here today. Peters is now a student in the law department of Stanford University and will not quit school until the end of the present semester, having arranged with Mack to report to the Athletics at that time.

Peters played with the San Jose State League club last year in the outfield and his speed and hitting ability brought him offers from Portland and San Francisco, but he declined to consider either. He will finish his post-graduate course at Palo Alto in June, and will then devote himself to baseball. Peters runs the hundred-yard dash close to 10.1, and does 220 yards in 23.

It is understood that he will be given a trial at first and in the outfield by Connie Mack. The lad prefers first base, but has shown great form as an outfielder, owing to his speed. He was one of the State League sensations last summer. He has played with both Watsonville and Salinas, in the Three C League, while attending school.

FOR SALE—IF YOU COULD BUY A WELL-established business, bringing in $400 to $600 monthly, with an expense, including rent, of less than $400 monthly, and could get it for $8000, wouldn't you think that it was worth your time to investigate? I have exclusive agency on the furnishings and four years' lease of a first-class 52-room hotel on Broadway, near Second, catering to the best people only. Most of the rooms permanently rented to business men. Right downtown, and the few transient rooms are always filled. This is an exceptional chance to get a hotel that is making and always has made big money every month in the year. Owner, who has run the place ten years, will show books to verify receipts. He offers it for sale on account of his wife's illness, and must sell quick. Let me show you the property.

Only $1500 in that will bring a better interest on the money invested? Just figure the percentage. If two go together for $750 apiece each can realize $100 a month on money invested; have you a man in view that can manage a good little business for you? If so, you can afford to pay him $100 per month and still have $200 per month as the interest for your $1500, and you have the business besides; owner has done well in present location for past six years; illness in family necessitating return East seen only reason for selling such a good paying business; one price only, $1500 cash. Investigate and you will find everything just as represented. Address J. J. C., box 1547, L. A., Cal.

COUGHING BURST BLOOD VESSEL

Says Danger Avoided and Cures Coughs in 5 Hours.

A writer for the medical press states that coughing is responsible for the bursting of blood vessels quite frequently. A cough or cold means inflammation (fever) and congestion, and these in turn indicate that the body is full of poisons and waste matter. Simple relief as found in patent cough medicines, and a whiskey, often result in more harm than good; as they cause more congestion. A tonic-laxative cough syrup will work marvels, and here follows a prescription which is becoming famous for its prompt relief and thorough cures. It rids the system of the cause, except it be consumption. Don't wait for consumption to grasp its victims, but begin this treatment which cures some in five hours. Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half or one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age.

One Treatment Cures
A WORD OF ADVICE.
Before beginning treatment elsewhere take my friendly advice and ask the doctor to tell you of his qualifications to cure you, and then be sure he shows you the proofs of his ability. Mere talk means nothing; promises and guarantees without ability behind them are of no value to you or any one else. After you are satisfied and begin your treatment it is up to you to see the promises are carried out. If you should be unfortunate enough to select the wrong doctor and find it out in time, come to me and I will be glad to do all that can be done for you.
KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES.
With these diseases you may have more complications than are presented by any other diseased organs. By my searching illumination of the bladder I determine accurately the disease, and by my microscopical examination and urinalysis we make sure of the condition of the kidneys, thus laying foundations for scientific treatment.
VARICOSE VEINS.
Varicose veins do more to destroy human vitality than many other diseases put together. They eat up the strength of the body. You come to my office with your varicose veins, and you leave me an absolutely well man. One treatment is all that is necessary. Not weeks nor months of endless doctoring, but one single visit. I permanently cure you without the loss of time, no pain whatever, and no after trouble.
I will cheerfully donate $1000 to any charity if any statement in this announcement is not absolutely true.

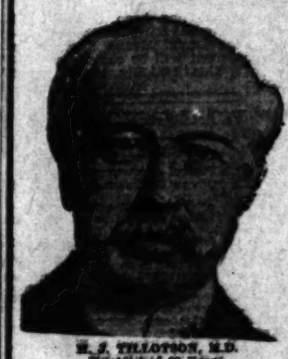
CURED IN FIVE DAYS
Hernia, Piles, Fistula and Varicose Veins



H. J. TILLOTSON, M.D.
Established 20 Years.
I am the only Specialist in Los Angeles who is sole owner of his office and equipment, who does not advertise a fictitious name and photograph. I personally my true photograph, correct name, personally conduct my office. I am the longest established, most successful and reliable, as medical credentials and press records prove. Imitation of my copyrighted announcement is no evidence that I am a bona fide Specialist. I make this statement that you will know you consult a Specialist, who does and treats patients personally, I possess skill and experience acquired in such a way that no other can share, and should not be classed with medical companies. Experience is the safe standard by which judgment may be valued, and it is useless and expensive to embrace the statements of medical companies. It is impossible for a medical company to attend college. Companies have no diploma or license to practice medicine in California or any other State. Medical companies usually are named after a doctor. A portrait, whose personality and identity are indefinite, is selected and published as the legitimate specialist of the office. Hired substitutes, ordinary doctors with questionable ability give consultation, examination and treatment.
A thorough investigation should be made by every ailing person as to the specialist he consults. Duty and destiny to self and those who depend upon you demand the best medical attention. I have the ability and can give you this service. I have always charged a very reasonable fee, so that my services may be utilized by any man who recently desires to be cured. I make no misleading statements or unbelievable propositions; neither do I desire to be particularly independent; and I would like to have you for a patient, if you will come to me on a strictly professional basis, and the inducements that I offer, which are my ability and thirty years' successful experience. Time-saving treatment and guarantee of cure of certain diseases.
NO MONEY REQUIRED TO COMMENCE TREATMENT. Many patients have no confidence in their doctor, because he demands pay before a cure has been effected, and there are many who have been misinformed about their condition, or through unsuccessful treatment have become skeptical and think there is no cure for them. I want an opportunity to treat such cases. It makes no difference about the financial part, as I accept pay for my services as benefits are derived, which I am satisfied the patient is reliable. Health is capital at interest. I will prove my ability to cure you before asking pay for my services.
WRITTEN GUARANTEE.
Dr. Tillotson's written guarantee means a cure or no pay for services. I guarantee to cure certain diseases or refund every dollar you have paid me for my services. My services cost you nothing unless I cure your Varicose Veins, Hernia, Piles, Fissures, Ulcerations, or any Chronic Ailments I guarantee to cure. My terms are reasonable and no more than you are willing and able to pay.
READ MY BOOK—It contains information every young man, husband and father should have regarding himself. Book Sent Free to those who, in my opinion, will be benefited by it. Call or write before treating for diseases of Genitals.
Office Hours—9 a.m. to 12 m.; 1 to 3 and 6 to 8 p.m. Sundays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Many Cases Cured Permanently in One TREATMENT. Most Times Required. Most Natural, Best Results. No Detention from Occupation, Family or Home. A Radical and Permanent Cure. I Will Give $500 to Any Charity if I Do Not Cure That Every Statement in This Announcement is True.
I cure rapidly, painlessly and at small expense. Cured Patients are My Testimonials, however, I do not make patient's Names Merchandise by publishing them. I will give conclusive evidence of my merit which is obtained and maintained by ability. I invite you to come to my office; I will explain my treatment for Hernia, Piles, Fistula, Varicose Veins, Pelvic, Nervous, Blood, Kidney, Bladder and Rectal Diseases. I will give you free a physical examination; if necessary a microscopical and chemical analysis of secretions to definite establishing pathological and bacteriological conditions. Every person should take advantage of this opportunity to learn their true condition. Certainty of cure is what you want.
Varicose Veins
In the cure of Varicose Veins, Rupture and Associate Diseases of the Pelvic Region, I am successful in bringing to bear the curative power of Nature's forces in such a manner as to supplant the old, time, wide-open surgical operations. Once it required several weeks to cure these conditions and the method which some still use is such as to endanger the life of the patient and require a long period of convalescence. Now an absolute cure can be accomplished in a few days and with perfect safety.
TRUSSES SELDOM CURE RUPTURE.
Disregard for existing Hernias has cost many lives. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous to life, because of the increased liability to strangulation. I am aware that a great deal of fraud has been practiced on the public in connection with the alleged cure of Rupture, and when I say positively that I cure Rupture, to stay cured, I do not expect any one to accept my statement without investigation of my professional work, My Cures are based on absolute facts, accomplished results. A personal consultation. I will make a free examination and can explain every detail of your Hernia and demonstrate to you the correctness of the method I have discovered. I invite the careful investigation of any person who sincerely desires to be cured. I cure Rupture, in selected cases, with perfect safety, and relief from suffering, and do not detain you from occupation under Written Guarantee. Many cases cured to stay cured by one treatment.
PILES, FISTULA, RECTAL DISEASES.
These diseases are very common, most frequently found in persons of middle, or advanced age; are exceedingly annoying, often very painful and sometimes very dangerous, and frequently built one for pleasure or recreation. My treatment and success are the result of years of experience; my treatment is kindly applied. I cure Piles without cutting. Some cases are cured by one or more treatments. If I do not cure your Piles, Fistula and other Rectal Diseases, my treatment does not cost you anything. Gentleness in treatment comes from treating many cases. I guarantee a cure of Piles, Fistula, Fissured Ulcers and all curable Rectal Diseases.
LIFE'S BLOOD STREAM.
The great clearinghouse of a person's body is the blood stream. Your blood cells are your bank account. Your only defense against disease is to add through blood corpuscles. My blood-making, blood-purifying remedies have been tried and proven. My blood-cell remedies nourish, strengthen and increase the blood cells and nourish the nerve centers. I want to prove to you at my expense that my blood-making, blood-purifying remedies give relief to weak brains and life to nerve centers.
KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES.
With these diseases you may have more complications than are presented by any other diseased organs. By my searching illumination of the bladder I determine accurately the disease and by my microscopical examination and urinalysis I make sure of the condition of the kidneys, thus laying foundations for scientific treatment.

WAR SCARE GROUNDLESS.

Eminent American Bishop of Japan and Korea Says That Nippon is Grateful and Friendly.

To a congregation which filled every seat in the First Methodist Church last evening, Rev. Merriman C. Harris, Bishop of Japan and Korea and one of the most eminent Americans in the Far East, emphatically declared the perennial war scare between the United States and Japan to be utterly groundless and mythical, Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson to the contrary notwithstanding.

Out of his long experience with the oriental peoples, Bishop Harris declared the Nipponese to be not only not inimically inclined toward this country, but actively and overtly friendly. He dwelt upon the great influence which America has exerted in the Far East for political, social, commercial and religious good, declaring it to constitute a debt which Japan is willing and anxious to repay as well as she may. He denied emphatically that there was anywhere any war sentiment in Japan and upset a popular impression by saying that the Japs were naturally a peace-loving people and constitutionally averse to trouble.

At the morning services Bishop Harris addressed the congregation upon the mission work in Korea, making a powerful appeal for help in raising a stricken and plundered nation, through the agency of Christian endeavor. The rapid spread of our faith through Korea and interior China, he said, is fast outstripping even the titanic efforts of those now in the field, adding that immediate assistance to them is little short of a sacred duty of the Christian and civilized nations.

Bishop Harris leaves Los Angeles for San Francisco on Thursday. In the Bay City he will continue his addresses upon subjects lying in his particular field. He sails from San Francisco for Japan March 8.

YOUNGWORTH TALKS TO SIMON.

Reported Relations of Neutrality Laws Not Verified by United States Officials at Calexico.

CALEXICO, Feb. 19.—Gen. Leyva and Simon Berthold, his second in command, organized a police force today, and then admitted they were preparing to move on Ensenada. The start may be made tonight. They say that when they do depart, they will leave a garrison fully capable of defending Mexicali against any number of Federals.

The prospects of a fight within the next few days is remote. Capt. Babcock, commanding the United States cavalry at Calexico, got in communication with the Yuma signal corps by telephone, and the commanding officer there said there were no Federals near his territory.

Federal District Attorney McCormick and United States Marshal Leo Youngworth, came here today from Los Angeles to investigate complaints of the Mexican authorities that the neutrality laws were being violated. They declare that the fears of the Mexicans are unfounded.

The report that Jack London and Berthold were in custody at Calexico, caused much amusement here. London is not among the many Americans in the rebel ranks, while Berthold today held conferences with McCormick and Youngworth at the bull pen on this side of the line.

McCormick and Youngworth left tonight for Los Angeles, but had no prisoners.

TO PLAY BALL FOR CHARITY.

Covina Masons and Odd Fellows to Meet in Strenuous Combat Washington's Birthday.

COVINA, Feb. 19.—The big event of the coming week will be the baseball game between the Masons and the Odd Fellows for charity, on Washington's Birthday. The game is called at 2:30 o'clock at the High School grounds. All the fans will be assembled for the struggle.

Mrs. Julia D. Phelps, county president of the W. C. T. U. presided yesterday at the institute held in the Christian Church. Other prominent workers who spoke were Mrs. Laura T. Carter, Mrs. Ella Dayton Blair, Miss Ella Howard, and Mrs. Bertha Phelps Allen. Next Friday evening the local W.C.T.U. will give a banquet to Judge Curtis D. Wilbur of Los Angeles, and he will address the people afterwards in the Methodist Church.

A new irrigating company has been formed for the purpose of watering the tract between Arroyo Drive and Walnut Wash. Interested in the project are: George Olney, L. G. Daniels, H. Parker, J. Q. Hepner and F. L. Hepner. A well is to be driven on South Citrus avenue.

The stationery store operated by Mrs. J. H. Shafe has been sold with stock and fittings to H. M. Roberts, formerly of Colton.

THREE POWERFUL SPEAKERS.

Dr. Burdette, Dr. Brougher and Mel Trotter Address Large Congregations at Temple Auditorium.

Yesterday was a busy day at Temple Auditorium, with services morning afternoon and evening, all three crowded to the limit and the latter being in the nature of a genuine overflow. Berean Hall was thrown open to accomodate the crowds, both it and the auditorium being filled to their capacity.

In the morning, Dr. Robert J. Burdette addressed a congregation that filled every seat. Fifteen minutes before the services commenced the auditorium was filled and the doors closed, many being turned away. Dr. Burdette spoke characteristically upon the Christian doctrine of love—the "love of God that endureth to the end." He pointed out the difference between the divine affection and that of men, bringing out in sharp relief the all-powerful potency and endurance of the former.

In the afternoon Mel Trotter, the famous mission worker of Saginaw, Mch., addressed a chowded house upon the concrete value of mission work and that which he had himself accomplished. He announced that it was his purpose to raise $15,000 for the carrying on of the missions of Los Angeles and the returns following his evening meeting showed that he fell but little short of his end. In addition to speaking before two audiences in the auditorium and one in Berean Hall yesterday, Mr. Trotter also addressed the congregation at the German Lutheran Church in the morning.

In the evening Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher filled the pulpit at Temple Auditorium, also addressing the overflow in Beran Hall. Dr. Brougher's topic was "Four Looks and a Choice," as experienced by King Solomon. He brought out in contrast the respective values to one's end of restrospection, introspection, looking out and looking up, preparatory to the making of any choice; divine guidance being the help especially to be sought.

Breeding Sedition.

NEUTRALITY LAW OPENLY VIOLATED IN LOS ANGELES.

Mexico Republic Makes Official Protest to United States Authorities Here That Funds Are Raised at Public Meetings, Men Recruited, Junta Maintained, Revolt Indorsed at Labor Temple.

IN spite of the official protests of the Mexican government, Los Angeles continues to be the seething hotbed of the rebellion. Local agitators are responsible for about all there is to the alleged revolution. For more than a month a stream of funds and of tramp soldiers have poured directly from this city into Mexico with the frank purpose of stirring up sedition within the borders of a friendly country.

Antonio Lozano, Los Angeles Consul from the Republic of Mexico, filed formal complaint with A. I. McCormick, United States District Attorney, and with Leo Youngworth, United States Marshal, requesting that further measures than those previously in effect be taken to prevent the violation of the neutrality laws.

Notwithstanding the explicit stand of the United States government officials in the premises, the Liberal League secretly raised additional funds for the rebels yesterday; a newly organized branch of the American Federation of Labor indorsed the revolution at a meeting held in Labor Temple yesterday morning; the Industrial Workers of the World expressed their sympathy for the looters at a meeting held in Labor Temple yesterday afternoon, and it was openly boasted at the revolutionary headquarters, No 519½ East Fourth street, that a meeting of the American Federation of Labor would be called in this city next Friday for the purpose of indorsing the trouble-makers across the border.

Antonio Villarreal, the ring leader of the local gang of Mexican insurrectos, says that it is the duty of every American union laborite either to give money for the support of the revolution or to go to Mexico to fight for the rebels.

MONEY SUPPLIED HERE.

Los Angeles supplied every one of the men who looted the town of Mexicali, and since the anarchists went there from this city, they have received practically all of their funds from local "reds." Simon Berthold, the California anarchist, who is one of the original agitators to have precipated the Fresno riots, left Los Angeles January 14, with thirty-five Mexican and American toughs, and E. O. Moran, a Mexican, who speaks fluent English and who had been mixed up in Cuba's early troubles, left Los Angeles January 24 with fourteen men.

San Diego also contributed a number of men and considerable sums of money for the revolutionists. It is the boast of the Industrial Workers of the World in Los Angeles that three of their members from San Diego have been commissioned generals in the revolutionary army.

When Consul Lozano went before the local United States officials Saturday for the purpose of presenting the protests of his government against the various outrages of the neutrality law perpetrated by anarchists from Los Angeles, he called their attention to the fact that in the last month large sums of money have been raised at public meetings of the Liberal League for the purpose of conducting a war against the Republic of Mexico. At one of these meetings a speaker, who solicited funds openly, stated that they wanted the money to buy arms and ammunition for the rebels in Mexico, and at this meeting $250 in cash was subscribed by those present.

Mr. Lozano has also requested Mr. McCormick to see if the newspaper published in this city in behalf of the revolution connot be suppressed. He has submitted that in the eyes of his government, it is a crime that a paper should be published in a friendly territory for the sole purpose of inciting riots and bloodshed in Mexico "Regeneracion," he said, was printed in Los Angeles every Saturday with a view to exciting sympathy for the rebels.

JUNTA IS MAINTAINED.

Mr. Lozano called the attention of United States officials to the fact that Enrique and Ricardo Magon, brothers of Flores Magon; Antonio I. Villarrael and Liberado Rivierra conduct offices at No. 516½ East Fourth street for the purpose of giving support to the revolutionists. He stated that these men are making an open appeal to Americans to subscribe funds and to send men to aid in the sedition against Mexico, and that the anarchists and the labor unions are responding to the appeals of these agitators. Mr. McCormick could not give the Mexican Consul any definite answer about the supposition of the revolutionist newspaper published in Los Angeles, but the matter will be carried to Washington.

Both Mr. McCormick and Mr. Youngworth told Mr. Lozano that they would guarantee the Mexican republic perfect immunity from the disturbing element on this side of the line, and that they would go to the border at once to personally direct the arrest and prosecution of any person attempting to give the rebels aidf of any character from the American side of the national boundary. Both the United States District Attorney and the United States Marshall were at Calexico yesterday on that enterprise.

Mr. Lozano has heard that Lozaro Guitterez De Lara is now at Guadalupe, Mex., where he will probably be arrested. De Lara is the agitator who precipitated the riot at Cananea, Mex., in June, 1906, when 184 men were killed. He was arrested and released by a mistake make in the receiving of a telegram from Mexico City. As soon as he was released, he came to the United States and this is his first venture back into Mexico.

The members of the Liberal Junta in Los Angeles, instead of blaming Orozco for failing to take Juarez, are praising him as a great strategist. They are saying that he kept Juarez under siege until he attracted a big part of Mexico's standing army to that point, and that now the interior cities are unprotected and will be quickly taken by the rebels. They were devoting all of their time yesterday to the vilification of the United States government, because it proposes to protect the United States work on the Colorado River. It was to protect this enterprise that Mexico asked permission to station troops on American soil. It now looks as if it would be necessary to pass Mexican troops over American railways for this purpose.

SAY WORKS TURNS COAT.

It is a unique fact that the only comfort, which the rebels have received from an American newspaper has been an editorial expression in the newspaper published by women at St. Louis. The Woman's National Daily runs away on a sentimental tangent to say that officially this government leans toward Diaz while the body of American people seem to lean the other way.

The local revolutionists are bitter in their condemnation of John D. Works. They claim that since he was elected to the United States Senate he has "turned coat" on them, while before his election, he boldly denounced the alleged persecution of Mexican refugees in the United States.

Mexican day laborers of the city, who have no trade, but who work with pick and shovel, yesterday organized themselves into a labor union, and their official act was to indorse the revolution and to pledge it their moral and financial support.

PRIEST OF JAPAN SEARCHES WIDE.

REMARKABLE ORIENTAL GUEST OF PASADENA ARTIST.

One of World's Greatest Students of Sanscrit and Has Spent Nine Years in the Monasteries of Thibet and India, Seeking After Doctrines Taught by Buddha.

Walter Howlinson Pritchard, the Pasadena artist, who goes under the sea in a glass boat to paint marine pictures, and who has made a life study of the philosophy and religion of the Far East, has a remarkable Oriental guest in the person of Taysan Kawakami.

"Taysan" is Japanese for "priest." He is a Buddhist priest of Japan who is a scholar of high attainments. In fact he is one of the world's greatest students of Sanscrit and has spent the last nine years in monasteries of India and of Thibet.

Most of the monasteries of Thibet are zealously guarded from all strangers by the brotherhoods having them in charge, but through the merit of scholarly attainments and of earnest desire to give light to the world, Taysan Kawakami hopes to gain admission to some of these ancient temples when he leaves California and returns to Thibet to continue his studies of holy manuscripts.

He is not searching the Pali scriptures for their general truths, but is seeking a specific doctrine known to have been taught by Buddha, but one not commonly expressed in the Hindoo literature. This doctrine has to do with astronomy, rather than with spirituality. Throughout the Orient tradition informs the seeker that Buddha taught that the world was spherical and that the universe could only be comprehended by grouping the worlds in threes. He taught that the universe contained countless worlds and that each was grouped with its own triplicity. In other words, the issues of a central world were always represented by two other planets or fixed stars.

In an age when humanity begins to dream of large discoveries concerning other inhabited worlds and of possible communication with them, Taysan Kawakami thinks that nothing could be more interesting that to secure authoritative documentary evidence of Buddha's teachings on the subjects of astronomy and universal astrology. It is the belief of the Japanese priest that modern science contains no proofs, and modern philosophy no speculations that go beyond the teachings of Buddha concerning these deep questions.

Taysan Kawakami is an art collector of reputation and he has found a painting of Durga, one of the oldest of the Oriental gods, in which the Diety is represented as holding the trpped in his hand. The priest has brought with him twenty very old paintings of Buddha which he was permitted to bring away from monasteries in India and in Thibet. They are too old to be hung and have to be spread upon the floor when viewed.

The oldest examples of art in existence are to be found in these monasteries and for many centuries the Japanese have made a business of collecting these paintings for the Buddhist and Shintoist temples of their own country.

Accompanying Taysan Kawakami is Taysan Torikawa a young priest of much learning who has been the former's able assistant in all of his deepest researches. They will be in Pasadena for some days.

REPRESENTS COLLEGE PLAN.

Comes Here to Arouse Interest in Cincinnati Institution Which Will Fit Men for Jewish Ministry.

Sigmund Rheinstrom, millionaire distiller of Cincinnati, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, to arouse interest in the erection of the New Hebrew Union College buildings in Cincinnati, where it is proposed to prepare Jews for the ministry.

The movement to raise funds for this purpose was launched a few weeks ago and has created great interest among the Jews all over the country. More than $150,000 has been subscribed for the project, and Mr. Rheinstrom has given up his business in the East to come to the Pacific Coast to inaugurate the movement here. The work is being carried on under the direction of the union of American Hebrew congregations, which embraces all of the Jewish synagogues in the United States.

Mr. Rheinstrom will carry on his work here in conjunction with the Rev. S. Hecht. He is staying at the Alexandria.

ANARCHIST HARANGUES CROWD.

Tells Idlers That Strikes Are "Baptised in Blood"—Urges Laborite Workingmen to Quit Employment.

The men who "loaf and agitate" at Second and Los Angeles streets, heard a new brand of anarchy preached yesterday, by an Australian named Wallengrove, who arrived here from San Diego and who leaves today for Fresno.

He was circulating pamphlets advocating a general strike all over the world. He urged all workers of every kind to stop work and remain out of employment until what he glowingly described as "the end of the ruling power" could be accomplished.

He said that, "like every grand idea," the general strike had been baptized in blood and that it already had skirmishes "of which it need not be ashamed."

Wallengrove condemned both the capitalistic socialist and the social democracy as utterly insincere and said that such men were the last persons on earth to have any respect for the working man or any sympathy with him. He said that when one said anything to a socialist employer about shorter hours and better pay, he was turned down and told that it was the "fault of the system."

Wallengrove's advice to working men everywhere was to start a big general strike and keep it up until either themselves or the ruling classes starved to death.

Joy in the Nursery.

PLAYS ESPECIALLY FOR LITTLE FOLK TO BE STAGED HERE.

A CHILDREN'S theater movement is under way in Los Angeles. It is sponsored by a number of well-known women, and apparently has competent hands for its guidance. It is proposed to give, at the Hamburger Majestic Theater, a series of matinee performances, appealing especially to children, and in which the performers shall, almost without exception, be little folk.

The first production will, according to present plans, be made in about a month, at which time "Wan o' the Wood," a fairy play, written by 16-year-old Florence Willard of this city, is to see the light.

Among the women who are actively interested in promoting these children's productions to success are Mrs. Howard Huntington, Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, Mrs. Dr. Janss, Mrs. E. C. Bellows, Mrs. E. P. Clark, Mrs. D. C. McCann, Mrs. Fielding J. Stilson, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Mrs. Daniel Murphy, Mrs. Jules Kaufman and Miss Mary Foy.

The heads of the productions are Alfred Allen, who has had considerable experience in children's plays in the East, but who is known here only by his problem-drama, "The Master-Power;" and Frank C. Egan, head of the Egan Dramatic School, from whose classes a large number of children will be drawn.

The concernment of children in theatrical productions is a matter of much discussion nowadays. There is an enactment preventing the professional employment of children under age, but, despite this, the interest of little folk in the theater seems to continue—and likewise the interest of big folk whenever they see little folk on the stage.

The inspirers of this movement feel that they would like to turn this natural childish interest into useful, well-directed and educational channels. Good intervals will separate the productions which it is proposed to make this winter; they will be at matinees only, and it is promised that no stigma of professionalism will be allowed to attach itself to the childish efforts.

According to the promoters, these productions are not to be made for the personal aggrandizement of any of the directors, nor in any sense for personal profit. The net receipts, if any, are to be devoted toward perfecting another production, or turned toward charity.

Mr. Allen has had considerable success in children's productions, since it was his spectacle, "Jack the Giant Killer," which ran for two weeks in New York several years ago, thus starting the children's theater movement in the metropolis. The performances were at matinees only, and the programme bore the unique legend: "Baby-carriages may be ordered at 5."

This year the New Theater has seen fit to revive, to a very large extent, the [illegible] and well-ordered dramatic representations.

"The Blue Bird," Maeterlinck's beautiful allegory of the search for happiness, called for the participation of scores of players of grammar-school age, and special provision was made not only for their care, but as well for their meals, their rest and even study, during the intervals between recreation and rehearsal. On the roof of the New Theater a gymnasium, playground, restaurant and study room were fitted, and there they were delightfully cared for.

It is proposed to follow "Wan o' the Wood" with a children's prduction of "Midsummer Night's Dream."

"Wan o' the Wood" has, in all, fifty or sixty characters, most of the roles, however, being small. The dialogue is of actual poetic value and elf-life daintiness, and the dramatic construction as a whole shows remarkably precocious talent, while the story is of sustained and climactic interest and is well told.

Among the little people of the city who will be concerned in the children's theater enterprise are: Perley Glen Godard, Gladys Bromley, Curtyne Englar, Deborah Lustig, Zearl Monteverte, Frank Jenkins, Ethel Treder, Stephen Jacsek, Anna Jacsek, Lelia Darby, Clella Van Pelt, Margaret Bentel, Anna Bradley, Mabel Raynard, Natalia Sharp, Randall Sharp, Riena Graf, Catherine Patterson, Rose Hony, Dorothy Pierce, Alta Berry, Audrey Creighton, Helen Morgan, Dorothy Sebree, Roland McIntosh, Carl Teschan, Ethel Ridley, Virginia Burkhart, Marjory Morgan, Marion Smithson, Katineen Brown, Jack Horner, Helen Eddy, Maude Pedegrift, Lucille Hutton, Hortense Orr, Eugenia Butler, Mildred Heinze, Margaret O'Brien and Consuelo Henley.

Eastern Oil Man Who Came Here First Twenty-five Years Ago, Predicts Our Population.

John Fertig, a millionaire oil man of Titusville, Pa., who is at the Van Nuys, has visited Los Angeles five times and each time he has found the city doubled in population. His first trip was in 1886, when there were 14,000 people here.

"If the city keeps on at is present rate of growth, and indications are that it will, Los Angeles will be a city of 600,000 people in 1915," said Mr. Fertig. He was one of the first men to enter the oil business in Pennsylvania. He is here to visit his daughter, Mrs. Mary F. Wells, of No. 2317 Scarff street, and a son, Roscoe Fertig.

INTO FRAY FOR A FREE HARBOR.

Los Angeles Girds Herself for the Fight.

Picked Team of Harbor Men Leave Thursday.

Will Ask San Francisco For Assistance.

Swinging into line some of her big and influential men, who have fought for her harbor since it was little more than a dream of the future, Los Angeles is preparing to throw her every available ounce into the legislative scale whose tipping means a free port for the Southland. The delegation which will leave this city for the State capital next Thursday night will go prepared to fight to the last ditch the threatened effort on the part of the northern lobby to wrest the harbor control from the municipality and place it in the hands of a State Board.

Though he going of he Southland's representatives has been deferred until that time in order that all her available fighting strength may be included in it, the delegation will be much more than merely an aggregation of prominent citizens. It will be no unwieldy crowd of ill-formed enthusiasts. Though numbers are a consideration, a much greater one is the actual good which each individual member can do to save Los Angeles' harbor for herself. Every man of the picked team has the details of the long harbor fight at his fingers' ends; the legislative phases of the situation at his tongue's tip. There will be no wasted efforts, no lost motion in getting into action when once on the ground.

Led by President-elect James Slauson, President Joseph Scott, Vice-president-elect H. Z. Osborne and every member of the Harbor Committee that has played so large a part in the history of the harbor, the Chamber of Commerce will be in the forefront of the fray. In answer to the appeal of The Times, from the beginning the leader for the freedom of our port, the roll of the harbor fighters is receiving daily additions. By the time the party leaves, at 6 o'clock p. m. Thursday, the maximum number that can be used to advantage will be on hand.

They will go in two sections. One, headed by the mayor, will proceed directly to Sacramento for an immediate conference with Senator Leslie R. Hewitt in reference to his forthcoming harbor measure. The other, under the leadership of Joseph Scott, will go first to San Francisco. Here they will meet by appointment the leading men of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and her civic organizations to enlist all possible support, directly legislative and otherwise, for the free harbor.

In spite of the fact that the movement for a State Harbor Board is credited to the Bay City lobby, every opportunity will be given San Francisco to reciprocate the yeoman services of the Southland in favor of the harbor bonds of the northern city, submitted at the last election, not to mention those of the Los Angeles Chamber and of its president for the 1915 exposition. Los Angeles is not begging favors on the strength of those past but, at the same time, attention is directed to the fact that one good turn deserves another.

The delegation will be joined in San Francisco by R. W. Burnham, of the old Harbor Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, who will colloborate at Sacramento with his colleagues, Congressman W. D. Stephens, Willis Booth and J. A. Anderson. Following the joining of the delegations at the capital city, conferences with the Los Angeles men now in the field will be held to determine the best method of immediate procedure.

In arranging for the first of these next Friday afternoon, Senator Hewitt yesterday telephoned to Secretary Frank Wiggins, of the Chamber of Commerce, his congratulations upon the active steps thus far taken and the necessity of bringing home to the people of Los Angeles the gravity of the situation whereby they may lose all that they have fought for for so many years.

"Representation in the field of those whose interests are the interests of the free harbor are what we need," he said. "The bigger and stronger the delegation is the better."

LAVISH WITH HIS GOLD.

Tourist Who Passes Out Old Coins Suspected of Shoving the Queer. Woman Companion Arrested.

A few weeks after an attempt to kill herself with gas, a young woman who gave the name of Grace Ferguson, was arrested by the police last night and locked up in the City Jail under a detaining charge of drunkenness. Behind the arrest of the woman, who was not drunk enough to be interfered with under ordinary circumstances, there seemed to lurk a story either of counterfeiting or burglary.

Grace got into trouble last night by consorting with a man who distributed too much money among chance acquaintances. He gave the cashier of a restaurant three gold coins, aggregating $28 in value. One was a $20 coin minted in 1799, and without the denomination; another was a $5 gold coin of 1815, of which the value was given as "5 D.," and the third was a $3 coin.

The cashier, suspicious of the coins because of their age, went to the sidewalk to consult Patrolman Romero when the man made a quick exit through a rear door. Later in the night he was found by Detective McCann, but was released when it was established that the coins were genuine and come by honestly.

YOUNG BRIDE KILLS HERSELF.

Her Mother Finds Body When She Enters Bedroom. Motive Has Not Been Learned by Police.

A bride of six weeks, Mrs. Nellie Ysarra LeBrun, living on Brooklyn near St. Louis street, hung herself by means of a short piece of rope tied to the doorknob of her bedroom yesterday afternoon and was found dead a short time later.

No reason is known for the woman taking her own life. She was alone in the house for a short time and when her mother, Mrs. Ysarra, returned after a few hours' absence, she found the young woman dead. The Close Finishes Yesterday in "The Times" Races.

World's records were established when one hundred and twenty-five small boys sped around the board racing course at Luna Park in The Times "Rockaway" tournament Saturday, cheered on by hundreds of companions.

The meet was marked by close finishes and such enthusiasm as it is only possible for a bunch of small boys to generate. The little coasters were raced around the course with speed that was marvelous considering the fact that they are propelled by the sturdy legs of the drivers.

Floyd Gillette, who won four first prizes in the races, went around the one-eighth mile course twice in fifty-two seconds. This is one-fifth of a second faster than Kenneth Wallace, the crack runner at U. S. C., made the same distance at a track meet yesterday afternoon.

Raymond Zuber, a tiny little fellow only ten years of age, made two laps in sixty-four seconds. Sixteen heats were necessary to decide the winner in the one lap free-for-all race as the course only accommodates five coasters at one time.

Prizes including every variety of sporting goods were given to the winners. Dozens of Los Angeles boys are sporting new sweaters, baseball gloves, and bulls as result of the meet.

Luna Park was thrown open free to the boys and the four hours required to pull off the tourney were one continuous round of fun for the little fellows. At the close of the races they voted unanimously for another coaster tournament. The results:

One lap race, boys under 12 years: Harry Hartwell won, Leland Moore second, George Dyna third; time, 34 3-5s.

One lap race, boys between 12 and 15 years: Floyd Gillette won, Garmon Morgan second; Irwin Spear third; time, 26s.

One lap race, free-for-all: Garmon Morgan won, Clifford Cake second, George Dyna third; time, 30s.

One lap race against time: Floyd Gillette won, Kenneth Tipton second, Clifford Cake third; time, 25s.

Two lap race against time: Floyd Gillette won, Kenneth Tipton second, Raymond Zuber third; time, 52s.

Quick turning race: Earl Martin won, "Bugs" second; time, 17⅘s.

Mile relay race, eight-boy team: Won by Floyd Gillette (Capt.), Geo. Dyna, Kenneth Tipton, Irwin Speer Garmon Morgan, Clifford Cake, Harry Hartwell, Leland Moore.

There were also exhibitions on The Times "Rockaway" roller skates.

George Edward Dyna, eighth-mile world's record, boys under 12.

Floyd Gillette, first time trial.

Kenneth Tipton, second.

Garmon Morgan, first free for all.

WILL PROSECUTE SISTER'S SLAYER

REYNOLDS'S DRINKING PROBABLE CAUSE OF MURDER.

Brother Believes Ranchman Knocked His Wife Down and Then Shot Her—Position of Body Indicates She Sought to Protect Herself.

Walter E. Hersinger of Redding, brother of Mrs. Lou Hersinger Reynolds, who was shot to death by Charles F. Reynolds, her husband, last Tuesday, arrived in Los Angeles Saturday to begin prosecution against the slayer.

Hersinger arrived in response to a telegram from Reynolds, requesting him to "drop all business and come at once—am in great trouble," but he has not yet called on Reynolds at the County Jail. He passed yesterday at Hollywood, viewing his sister's remains and making arrangements for shipping the body to Redding for burial.

"I don't know why Reynolds sent for me," said Hersinger last night at the Hollenbeck Hotel. "He certainly can expect nothing from me. The killing of my sister was a cold-blooded murder, and I will prosecute him to the limit.

"In examining my sister's body I found that the shot which caused her death ranged downward from her shoulder, breaking her shoulder-blade. She was evidently shot lying on the floor, after being knocked down. The coroner told me that he found the body with the arms raised over the look on my sister's face was one of inexpressible horror. Reynolds had undoubtedly knocked her down and then shot her.

"I don't know what the quarrel could have been about, unless it was because of Reynolds's drinking. My sister had complained of his drinking, and I know that she moved to the ranch at Lankershim to get him away from liquor in Los Angeles. They formerly lived at No. 614 Rampart street, this city.

"I visited the County Jail and had a talk with the officials, who tell me that Reynolds has not shown the least sign of remorse for his crime. His assertion that my sister attacked him with a butcher knife and that he shot her in self-defense is not true. The only butcher knife in the house is in its place on the back porch, where it was usually kept. There was no knife in the room nor anything resembling a knife with which she might have attacked him. There were books and broken glassware lying about, showing evidences of a struggle, but that was all."

William F. Hersinger of Grant's Pass, Or., another brother of the dead woman, will arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow. Mrs. Reynolds was an only sister among seven boys. The other brothers are: H. L. Hersinger of Grant's Pass; John A., and C. W. Hersinger of Redding; E. C. Hersinger of Pendleton, Or., and T. J. Hersinger of Stockton.

COMING TRIALS CAST A GLOOM.

CONVICTION PROSPECTS MAKE LABORITES SORE.

Prosecution of Pickets Arrested in the Last Few Months While Attempting to Harass Los Angeles Industries Is to Begin the Latter Part of March.

Beginning March 20 the prosecution of the unionite pickets arrested in the last few months while attempting to harass Los Angeles industries by intimidating workingmen will begin in the Police Courts.

The pickets from time to time have requested that the cases be dismissed, offering in consideration for that action on the part of the city prosecutor that they will cease their lawlessness but, because the unionites have not shown by their actions that their promises were made in good faith, the trials will be pushed.

From March 20 until July 1 two cases will be called each week. Police Judge Rose has two of the cases and Police Judge Frederickson has the remainder.

With Grow, Stevens and Marrs, the trio recently convicted in the Superior Court for attacking and brutally beating an employe of the Baker Iron Works who was on his way from the shops to his home, placed behind the bars the unionites do not look upon the approaching trials with the pleasure they would like to display.

It was in Police Judge Frederickson's court where the most of the coming trials will be held, that the unionites under the leadership of "Curly" Grow and Ed Nolan boisterously assembled last September and demanded that the pickets then in jail be released on their own recognizance. Grow started a bigoted speech on the rights of unionites to do most anything and when he concluded his tirade he was told he could take his choice between leaving the courtroom within ten seconds or going to jail for contempt of court. Though he had just told the court that he had an unlimited number of rights, one of which was to talk all he wished, he lost no time in getting away.

Nolan then became very abusive toward Police Judge Frederickson and he was given the same length of time in which to disappear.

Nolan and Grow later led a mob to the East Side jail but were driven back.

A short time previous to the affair in the courtroom, Police Judge Frederickson had received threatening letters. He did not disclose the contents of the letters but he believed they were sent him by unionites.

Assistant City Prosecuter Nimmo secured two convictions in Police Judge Rose's branch of the courts.

In one of the two latter cases the jury accepted the word of a single witness so disgusted had it become with the manner in which the unionite on trial, J. Coffey, a messenger, excused his actions. One of the two convictions was secured in five minutes and the other in eight minutes.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Fire Needs.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Byrne building fire of a few days ago should teach Los Angeles a lesson that two things are needed to fight a fire when it gets a headway.

Los Angeles has a population of 2,000,000 in sight. In twenty-five years they may be here. We must plan for the future. Berlin is planning for a 10,000,000 population, which she expects to have in fifty years. We need at once in the business center of the city alleys so that a fire can be reached in our great business blocks, and also we need, and must have, at least two cross-city avenues of not less than 200 feet in width. All large cities in their history have to fight a great conflagration. Only a wide avenue saved San Francisco in her great calamity from being completely wiped out by fire. Why should not progressive Los Angeles take a lesson? Let us at once widen Vermont avenue as proposed to not less than 200 feet, from Griffith Park to the harbor. It will make at least one effective fire-break the whole length of twenty-six miles from north to south and it certainly is worth its cost as a fire-break. It would also aid us to make this proposed grand scenic avenue a part of the now-before-Congress national highway from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific Ocean. With the completion of the Panama Canal, Los Angeles will become, in the very near future, to the Pacific Coast of the United States what New York is to the Atlantic Coast, a great maritime city.

If carried out as proposed, Vermont avenue will become the grandest avenue in the world and will make Los Angeles famous. There should be no further railway franchises granted on Vermont avenue.

Chairman Harbor Boulevards Federated Improvement Association.

Crossing Troubles.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Having noticed the trouble that the crossing officers have in stopping strangers and others with their whistles, I would suggest that a socket be placed in the exact center of the crossing. In this a light pole could be placed, with a sign six or eight feet above the ground, with "stop" painted on both sides.

This pole and sign could easily be revolved by the officer, alternately to the north and south, and to the cross streets, could be easily seen by drivers and at the same time do away with the sharp whistle, which is somewhat no danger in case of runaways and would serve the purpose mentioned, as all drivers are supposed to go around the center in making a turn. Also at right angles with the "stop" sign could be placed a "go ahead" sign, which would come into notice in the proper direction as the pole was turned in its socket. DRIVER.

"CLOSE THEM UP," WRITE PENITENTS

TELL CHIEF SEBASTIAN WHERE POKER IS PLAYED.

Writers State They Cannot Break Habit and Hope Police Will Remove Temptation—Drug Fiends Give Addresses Where Dope Can Be Bought—Blind Pigs Enumerated.

Many letters have poured into the office of the Chief of Police, since the request was made that the public give him information about gambling places, blind pigs and other unlawful places. The authorities now have sufficient "tips" in their hands to work up a large number of raids.

Confessions proved to be the most pronounced features in the letters received by the Chief. They show the lengths victims of drugs and the gambling habit will go to rid themselves of their evil habits.

Minute information was given about two gambling places in the downtown district. The writer of the letter stated that he had sat in many of the games and named the amounts he had won and lost.

"It may seem odd to you, sir, that I tell you this after admitting that I have myself sat in the games," the letter giving information about one place reads. "But I feel that I must tell. I am a business man of good standing and good reputation, but I cannot resist the temptation to gamble. My winnings just about counterbalance my losses, and financially I am as sound as ever, but I look at the other side of it in writing you and trust that you will close the place up so that I will have no opportunity to play."

Inasmuch as the writer gave the exact location of the rooms, told how to get there and where the guards are stationed and what the passwords are the Chief said yesterday afternoon that he would do his best to remove temptation from the man's path.

Two other letters received touched on another branch of police work which, because of the great amount of time taken up in gambling raids, has almost been left untouched. The letters were from drug fiends. Both writers declared that they were not "real dope fiends," but simply persons who had "hankerings" for morphine. The letters contained considerable information about the places where drugs can be easily secured.

Though in the request made by the Chief the informers were asked to sign their correct names and were promised that they would not be called as witnesses, very few letters were signed. Several were from persons living outside the city, who wanted blind pigs closed up.

SQUELCHING THE MASHER.

Mounted Policeman Is Assigned to Patrol Westlake Park to Protect Women and Children.

Beginning today a mounted officer will be on duty in Westlake Park between 4 and 8 p.m., to give special protection to women and children. Later this special protection will be extended to all the parks.

An order to this effect was issued by Chief Sebastian yesterday afternoon. Many complaints have been made to the police in the last few days by women, who said they had been insulted in Westlake Park, while walking with their children.

The regular park policemen were called before the chief and questioned about the occurrences. The patrolmen declared they were doing all in their power to make the parks safe places for women and children, but the "masher" has become so numerous that more policemen are needed.

In nearly all the complaints, women stated that they had been accosted late in the afternoon or early in the

REV. W. L. TUCKER.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH.

THERE IS ENOUGH ACTIVITY IN THE CHURCHES BUT IT SEEKS AN OUTLET SHORT OF EVANGELIZATION.

Rev. W. Leon [illegible]er at the Calvary Baptist Church, yesterday, preached on the topic, "Shall We Feast While Others Famish?" He said in part:

"The life of faith for December records the following sad and significant story' from a missionary: 'A young Bengali, a graduate of Calcutta University, married a beautiful bride. Their love was consummated in the birth of a child. Its natal day changed to fall on a festive phase of the moon. The mother was but a girl, far too young for motherhood. In her thirst she appealed in turn to mother, father and brothers. All refused; it was a fast day. Her agony was intense. The husband taking in the situation, said, 'Father usually in religious matters, I obey you, but I cannot acquiesce in the death of my wife.' When the family saw that the husband was in earnest they put him in chains. That young mother's life was sacrificed on the altar of religious superstition. I shall never forget hearing the broken-hearted husband, sobbing say. 'Oh, missionary! O, Christian! Come!'

"Would to God this man's sob could reach the ears of the cold, careless churches of America! Would to God we could arise from our feasting and look on the fate of the famishing! Would to God we would cease our feasting and call a time of fasting, and that bended knees would supplant stiff necks, and supplicating hearts replace selfish spirits.

"The Macedonian call has never ceased—'come over and help us' is still a midnight cry. 'O missionaries, O Christians, come!' Yes, but they can not, they are bound by the chains of greed and gold. They are held fast by a church which ... not go or let go. There is enough activity in the churches, but it seeks an outlet in channels much short of evangelization which is the supreme business of the church. There is much young life, but the lack of spiritual life fails to constrain them to lay down life that they might proclaim life.

"There is money, hordes of it, heaps of it, but it is finding its place of investment in stocks and bonds, rather than souls and bodies. The 'bulls and bears' bellow so loudly, that the sobs, sighing, and crying of the heathen can not be heard. Trade and traffic, pleasure and pursuit claims time and talent, which should be devoted to evangelization.

"Missionary hoards are efficient. The pleading of the secretaries would be powerful if they were not pitiful. They have to bring a world vision to the contracted vision of the people. To be sure ...ong the multitudes there are many whose eyes are open and purses also, but this is the exception, not the rule. While this situation continues the cry continues also—'Oh Christians, come!' Shall we turn from our business to His business—from our pursuits to a place on His programme? Shall the church of God do the work of God?"

REV. E. S. HODGIN.

FIRST UNITARIAN CHURCH.

ANY DEPARTURE FROM NATURE AND ALL ATTEMPTS TO IMPROVE UPON HER MEAN UNHAPPINESS.

In his sermon on "Nature's Master or Nature's Slave," at the First Unitarian Church, yesterday morning, Rev. E. Stanton Hodgin said:

"The theologies of the past have for the most part held an attitude either of suspicion or of direct hostility toward nature. Above and superior to nature it assumed was the realm of the supernatural or divine—the realm of spirit. Between the natural and the supernatural was thought to be a gulf of antagonism. While man was partly a product of nature he reached up into the supernatural. He had the power of choice as to whether he should obey the natural or the supernatural. If he chose the supernatural as his guide he became a child of God; if he chose the natural he was a child of evil. The natural man was in conflict with the supernatural and was tempting him to do wrong.

"In contrast are those who exalt nature to a place of supreme authority. They make blind nature their God and declare that all man's troubles result from his being untrue to his infallible guide. He should study and imitate nature in all his activities if he would be wise and fulfill his mission in life. 'Back to Nature' and 'You cannot improve upon nature and her methods' are their watchwords. They point to the prevalence of sickness and disease among us and maintain that these things are unknown to men who live in a state of nature. They point to the sorrows and griefs and pains of our humanity and declare that nature knows nothing of sorrow and grief and very little of pain. Sin and vice and wickedness, they say, are all the products of what we call civilization, and nature is free from them. Any departure from nature and all attempts to improve upon nature means unhappiness, misery and destruction.

"To my way of thinking these two views are equally wide the mark. Were I compelled to choose between the two I believe I should be compelled to choose the former or supernatural as giving greater freedom for the imagination and greater opportunity for expansion. Fortunately we are not reduced to the dilemma of choosing between the two.

"While it is true that the greater part of our sufferings and troubles arise from our ignorance of nature and of nature's processes, and that a better understanding of nature would remove mountains of misery and woe, we need to know nature better, not for the sake of going back to nature, but in order that we may go forward to that something to which nature points. We suffer, not because we have departed from blind nature, but because we have not departed wisely or have not departed far enough. We do not know nature well enough to see where it would direct us, and so we make many painful vagaries. We need to get closer to nature and understand her methods better, not because it is impossible to improve on nature, but because we can and must improve on nature if we are to fulfill our destiny as human beings. More knowledge of nature is imperative, not that we may bow down to it and make it our master, but in order that we may rise superior to it and make it our servant."

DR. NASH.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

THE BIBLE IS A WORD OF HOPE AND PROMISE NOT IN CERTAIN PASSAGES BUT AS A WHOLE.

At the Universalist Church yesterday, the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. Ellwood Nash, continued his series upon "Popular Mistakes about Universalism."

He said in part:

"Science by no means proves conviction. The spirit of our age does not encourage theological polemics; the issues of the past are not settled, but lie in abeyance pending a fresh assertion of intellectual interest in the foundations of faith. The pulpits are dogmatically dumb. But the old verities remain uncured in the minds of multitudes. It would be much to not a few burdened souls if they could be relieved of those ancient and now really obsolete fears.

"Is the Bible susceptible of a modern interpretation, without violence to its actual meaning. That is a very live question, and it ought to be answered faithfully. The 'eternal hope' with which so many are comforting themselves, the daring optimisms of the age, the universalist assurance of 'good at last to all'—are not these cherished in direct defiance of the scripture? Are they not man-made assumptions, pure and simple? And are they not therefore essentially unreligious and even infidel?

"It is certain that modern scholarship, and that of a quite orthodox and evangelical type, has shown many defects, not so much in the sacred volume, as in the traditional handling of it. It is now pretty well agreed that the Bible must give way to facts, if the two collide. It is conceded that there is not sufficient 'authority' in the text to support a plainly immoral doctrine, should one be found there. Nor can we much longer force thinking men to flout the higher oracles, to despise the nobler sentiments of their nature, in deference to the letter of some single word, perhaps of the venerated scripture. I, for one, do not hesitate to say boldly that I would not and could not believe God to be a fiend, though a thousand unmistakable passages from the book asserted it. Such a book would be self-evidently shorn of the only credential that finally recommend it to faith.

"It is an immense relief that not a passage of that sort can be quoted, not a solitary text whose affirmation of hopeless doom is conceded without question by the commentators. The fancy of some that endless punishment is taught on every page of holy writ' is due to mere ignorance and preposession. On the other hand, no language could possibly be clearer than that of numerous passages which proclaim as with a shout that God will win his battle with evil, and finally be 'all in all.'

"Universalists believe in the Bible; from the beginning they have founded their teaching upon it. They have already shown the way to many a conclusion, which 'orthodoxy' now accepts; and they intend to wrest the entire revelation from the clutch of those who make it a butt and a mockery by their fetichisms and their wooden superstitions about it. Thus they may claim to be defenders of the oracles of God. Their feeling is one of love and loyalty towards the inspired and inspiring messages; they are harmonists and constructionists, whose mission is to reintroduce God to man as a Father and a Savior, these only, everywhere, and forever.

"The Bible is a word of hope and promise, not merely in certain passages, though these abound, but as a whole. Its manifest plan is a progressive announcement of God's taking man's part in the struggle against sin, of His warnings and invitations and instructions as their friend, of His infinite interest in their well being and in the riddance of his creation from sin and sorrow, and of the impossibility of his failure."

DR. TILROE.

BOYLE HEIGHTS M. E. CHURCH.

THEOLOGY OF JESUS APPLIES ON THE STREET; IN UPPER ROOM, OR AMONG THE CLOUDS.

At the Boyle Heights M. E. Church yesterday Rev. Dr. Tibrol preached from the text, "Be ye therefore perfect even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."

He said in part:

"Some 700 years ago certain good people did our Bible a great damage. They divided it into chapters and verses. It called attention to how it was written as over against the writing. It furnished places to shop at. It begot the habit of homeopathic scripture reading, taking the truth in small doses. It taught us to build theologies on single texts. It brought mechanics to the front as over against dynamics, the head rather than the heart. Our letter writing is not in verses. Our books and newspapers are not in verses. Our revised version puts its verse notations in the margin. All of which and a great deal more teaches us to read the good Book always fair what it says, and let the method care for itself.

"For instance read this particular verse remembering it was spoken to the disciples. It is a teaching for students and learners. Maybe they were converted and likely not. Whether they were or otherwise is not in the equation. The point is the followers of Christ are to have some sort of perfection as an ideal and obligation. They are to be perfect as their Father in heaven is perfect, and the lesson is not too large for the kindergarten.

Again read this verse in the light of its location. Jesus had said, He came not to destroy but to fulfill, murder was not killing but anger, audltery was the lustful look, men were to use economy in oaths, it was not to be eye for eye and tooth for tooth, but a wise and judicious non-resistance, and now He says men are not to love their neighbor and hate their enemy but to love all men alike. The perfection of the text is not perfection in knowledge, wisdom, power or holiness, but perfection in love. The only possibility in human nature for completness is the possibility employed. The dew-drop may be as full as the ocean though hardly as large or potential.

"Again read this verse as saying only it is perfection in love for men. In other scriptures we find we are to love ourselves and to love God. In this paragraph we are confined to love for our fellows, our neighbor and our enemy, our brothers and then them that persecute us, the man who loves us and he who hates us, the pure and the impure the good and the evil, we are to love them all. Our Father in heaven does that and we are to do the same therein being perfect as He is perfect. The use of this paragraph to reach and teach a marvelous and mystical inner experience of the human soul was never intended by the Master Mind that gave it to us. Christian missions and service rather than Christian experience is the vision of these words.

"Finally read this verse as being a synonym with the earlier expression, 'children of your Father.' In the sense of the Sermon on the Mount the child of God is perfect in love. He grows in to a man but not into the family. He cannot send rain or make the sun to rise but He can love and bless, and do good, and pray, both the child of His Father in heaven and perfect as his Father in heaven is perfect. The theology of Jesus was as perfectly at home on the street as in the upper room or among the clouds. His mightiest teachings thrive in the cradle. Disciples, children, men who love their neighbors find the secret of His presence.

REV. J. C. PINKERTON.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN

MISSION CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST IS UNIVERSAL IN EXTENT, SPLENDID IN SPACE AND OUTLOOK.

The Rev. J. Clarence Pinkerton opened his pastorate at the First United Presbyterian Church yesterday morning, although the formal installation services will not be held until Wednesday night. His subject was "Our Ideals Together." He said in part:

"The Church of Jesus Christ is not of human origin, and hence a man's relation to it is not optional. Its mission is universal in its extent, splendid in its purposes and magnificent in its outlook. It calls for strength and broadness. It appeals to the heroic and demands men of the largest mold.

"The method of the church is not the sword of the Hindu, nor the pennances of Papacy, but by the preaching of the gospel of Jesus Christ and Him crucified, and the witness of a holy life, it goes on conquering and to conquer.

"There is no twentieth century method of saving men and redeeming society. No amount of philanthrophy or charity or humanitarianism or sal flattery will do the business. Occasionally a man may be reformed by such means, but saved men are reborn. It is reborn men who make up a redeemed society. The church may add all legitimate accessories to its method, but let us recognize in our work together that there can be no substitute."

PASTOR RUSSELL'S WEEKLY SERMON.

TRENTON (N. J.) Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle preached here in the Operahouse on the "Hereafter," and also on "Those angels which kept not their first estate." (Jude 6.) Excellent attention was given at both services. We report the latter as follows:

The Bible's teaching that the earth's atmosphere is infested with evil spirits is now very generally disbelieved. As a result of the disbelief, thousands of well-meaning people are being more easily entrapped by these evil spirits. The blight is both physical and moral. The usual method of procedure is to arouse curiosity. While the quest for knowledge proceeds, an influence much like that of hypnotism affects the investigator, impelling him forward to further investigation. Sometimes the curiosity is attracted through the outer senses at spiritualistic seances, with ouija-boards, etc. At other times it is by spirit rappings. Again, it may be by whisperings in the ear, inaudible to others. At other times the messages come through trance mediums.

In every instance these communications purport to come from dead human beings. This of itself gives to the communications a special charm to many. They feel honored in being sought out by the dead and in being able to communicate with them. They are curious for information respecting the hereafter. They forget that they have been taught from infancy that the holy dead are far off in heaven, and that the unholy dead are far off in torment.

PREPARED FOR DELUSIONS.

God, through his Word, has forewarned His people against these delusions. In permitting them, nevertheless, to fall into these traps, He is merely teaching a great lesson. The terrible reults of disobedience, of neglect of God's Word, are not eternal.

The Divine arrangement is that ultimantely the entire human family shall be released from the bonds of sin and death, ignorance and superstition, and all have full opportunity for coming into full harmony with God. The present lesson will illustrate the necessity for searching the Scriptures, and obeying God's voice therein.

SEDUCING DEVILS.

St. Paul, in describing our day, declares one of its prominent signs to be that many will now give heed to these seducing spirits, whose teachings and practices lead away from God. St. Paul intimates also that by these misleading spirits many will come to hold doctrines of demons, or devilish doctrines. It is a sad commentary upon our wonderful day of enlightenment that the most enlightened people should hold the most awful doctrine respecting the hereafter.

A doctrine of demons it most surely is which tells, to the dishonor of God's name, that nine hundred and ninety-nine out of every thousand of humanity are to be eternally tortured, either because of Divine incompetence to make better arrangements for them, or because God willed and foreordained it so before creation. This doctrine of demons has enslaved many honorable people who would themselves scorn to make such a plan of the ages as they attribute to God.

Thank God, the time is not far distant when these seducing spirits will be completely bound, restrained, and deceive humanity thus no more. But the deception has so long prevailed that poor humanity is thoroughly under its control. The falsehood leading up to all this error is Satan's first lie to our parents in Eden. There, contradicting the words of God, he said: "Ye shall not surely die." Ever since, along this line, and all the fallen angels with him. His message is: "Ye shall not surely die." You do not surely die. When men seem to die, they become more alive than before they died.

On account of these errors, that dead men are alive, Satan and the fallen angels, contrary to the teachings of the Bible, have instilled into the whole world, nonsensical, heathenish superstitions regrading heaven, purgatory and hell. The Catholics pray for those who go to purgatory, to help them out. Protestants do not so pray, believing that the saintly few go direct to heaven, and all of the unsaintly go as directly to eternal torture.

If this great lie wherewith Satan first seduced Mother Eve and murdered our race could be fully eliminated from our minds and our creeds, it would mean a religious revolution to both Catholics and Protestants—back to the Bible and away from the domination and seduction of the lying spirits, the fallen angels, who personate humanity.

THE FALLEN ANGELS LUSTFUL.

So far as we can learn from those who have once been spirit mediums, the trend of spiritism is toward unchastity, impurity. And this agrees well with the scriptural declaration relative to the sin through which these fallen angels first became reprobate.

St. Jude (6) and St. Peter (II Peter ii 4.) tell us briefly of the fall of the angels—that "they left their own habitation and kept not their first estate." Both apostles mention the circumstances in connection with human lasciviousness. The story of the fall of the angels is given us briefly in Genesis vi, 1-4. After man's fall into sin God permitted the holy angels to have communication with humanity. And because human eyes cannot see spirit beings, God permitted the angels to materialize. For instance, we note the case of the angels who visited Abraham on the plains of Mamre and for whom he prepared a veal dinner. We read that, materialized, these angels were like men, and taken by Abraham to be men, while they ate and talked with him. It was subsequently that Abraham learned that they were really heavenly visitants.

So it was with all the angels before the flood. They were permitted to materialize and to appear in every sense of the word as men. The record shows that the angels became lustful. We read, "The sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair and took unto themselves wives of such as they chose." The angels, with superior powers and superior knowledge to man's acted as the masters of men, who were practically obliged to do their bidding. The result is stated in few words. The children of this mesalliance, we are told, were giants as compared with the ordinary members of our race. And not only were they giants physically, but also intellectually—"They were men of renown." Poor humanity could not compete with this race. The result was that strife and contention and lustful, sinful practices abounded in all the earth, until God declared that every imagination of the thoughts of man's heart was only evil continually.

God had foreknown all this, and a canopy of waters, which then surrounded the earth, similar to Saturn's rings now, were held in readiness to cause a flood, that sinful men and the human offspring of the angels might be destroyed. Only Noah and his family were found worthy of preservation to be the new start of humanity this side of the flood. The declaration of the scriptures respecting Noah's family is, "Now Noah was perfect in his generation." He was properly generated or born—so were his children. There was no strain of admixture of the angelic stock in that family. The plain information is that the remainder of humanity were so degraded by the seductions of those fallen angels that they were not fit to live. The entire race had become corrupt.

ANGELS RESTRAINED—CHAINS OF DARKNESS.

Of course, the fallen angels were not destroyed in the flood, for they not only had the power to materialize, but also the power to dematerialize. It was at that time, however, that all of the fallen angels were put under restraints—not permitted again to materialize, the limitation lasting "until the judgment of the great day."

Their restraints or chains are not physical, to confine them to a place in Tartarus—the earth's atmosphere. They may roam at will; but are chained, or restrained from materializing. The intimation of the scripture seems to be that, with the ending of this gospel age, just prior to the inauguration of the new dispensation, these evil spirits mays be allowed to break their chains and manifest themselves as men, in connection with the great trouble time incidental to the change of dispensation.

Separated from God and the holy angels, and unable to assume human bodies, the sinful angels have probably had terrible experiences during the past forty-four hundred years. True happiness is not to be expected amongst those alineated from God. Anger, malice, hatred, strife, "works of the devil," the apostle says, are not compatible with the love, joy and peace which belong alone to a condition of holiness. Under such circumstances we cannot wonder that these fallen angels would seek association with humanity. Being under the control of satan as a chief or prince of devils, they have followed his course and propagated his original falsehood —"Ye shall not surely die." They have conjured to men's minds the hell of the heathen, the hell and purgatory of the Catholics, and, worst of all, our Protestant misconception of awful and unending torture for all except the saintly few.

ENEMIES OF GOD AND MEN.

These doctrines of demons have increased the gulf between God and humanity and have made the Bible, the message of God's love, a book of terrors—not to be loved, merely to be endured or kept as a fetish to secure possibly a cooler place in purgatory. We may safely say that all the false doctrines of Christendom, represented in all of the creeds of the "Dark Ages," are doctrines of demons. Our minds became defiled—our hymn books, our creeds, everything.

Thank God that the light of the New Dispensation is now bringing to us the beginning of blessing—release from some of our darkness. The seeing of the true wage of sin—that it is death and not eternal torment—is one of the most important features connected with our enlightenment. When we learn that the dead are really dead and, as the Bible declares, will not know anything until the resurrection, then we begin to see the beauty of God's plan—the need of Christ's death; the need of His second coming; the need of His Kingdom; the need of a resurrection; the need of an opportunity for all mankind to come to a clear knowledge of the great Truth of redemption through the precious blood and the opportunity then, by God's grace, of attaining eternal life —either during this Gospel age, as New Creatures, spirit beings like unto the angels, or in the New Dispensation during the more general salvation of the world to human perfection in an earthly Paradise.

JESUS CAST OUT DEVILS.

Our great Redeemer manifested his power by casting out demons from those who had become obsessed. And we read further that he commissioned his Apostles to heal all manner of disease and to cast out unclean spirits. We are told that they did this—and numerous instances, in illustration, are given us. One man was obsessed by a legion of these spirits. No wonder the poor fellow was crazy. But after they were cast out he was clothed and in his right mind and became a disciple. (Luke viii. 26-36.)

St. Paul and Silas had ag experience with an obsessed young woman who practised soothsaying, fortune-telling by the power of the evil spirit which obsessed her. As the evil spirits recognized Jesus and cried, "We know Thee, who Thou art, Jesus," so this spirit knew the Apostles and, through the young woman's lips, cried after them, "These be the servants of the Most High God, which show to us the way to obtain eternal life." (Acts xvi. 16-18.)

Neither Jesus nor the Apostles were willing to accept demon testimony and commanded the evil spirits to come out of their victims.

SCIENTISTS BEING ENTRAPPED.

The Scriptures indicate that there will be a wonderful activity amongst the fallen angels in the close of this Gospel Age. The Master declared that the deceptions would be such that, if it were possible, the "very elect" would be deceived. But that will not be possible, because Divine providence stands engaged to protect the elect. The Ninety-first Psalm, which gives a picture of the closing of this Age and its sundry trials and tests, declares that God will give his messengers a charge concerning the feet members of the Body of Christ in all their ways—lest a foot should be dashed against a stone of stumbling. (Psalm xci, 12.)

As Satan and the fallen angels operate largely through "the children of disobedience," so God and his holy messengers use not only the Scriptures, but God's children of obedience as mouthpieces, as helpers, as God's embassadors in "building one another up in the most holy faith." Hence the time when "a thousand shall fall at thy side and ten thousand at thy right hand" will be also the time when these ensnaring and deceptive errors will "not come nigh them"— not come nigh the members of the Body of Christ, the elect.

If our understanding of the Scriptures be correct, we need not be surprised if the fallen angels may again seemingly gain a victory over the Divine restraints and materialize in broad daylight—personating not only the dead, but also at times personating the living. Spiritists and mediums are claiming such things as already beginning and likely to be accomplished on a grand scale shortly. Should it come it will inaugurate a terrible time of trouble such as has not been since the flood. God's people, while resting confidently and at ease under Divine supervision, should be on the alert to resist everything akin to Spiritism, Occultism, Hynotism, and to warn their friends respecting these things.

Numerous scientific men are being entrapped by these lying spirits whose doings and powers they are investigating under the name of Psychic Phenomena.

Thank God we are nearing the time when Satan shall be bound and when every evil influence shall be restrained. Not only will there be a full cleasing from a physical obsession, but a still greater cleansing and freeing from the doctrines of demons.

GOLF NEWS.

"The course was in good condition and the day was ideal for golf," says an account of a recent tournament held in the suburbs. We take it, therefore, that the highball at the nineteenth hole was well concocted.

TOMMY CAUSED IT.

Friday last was 'most the coldest day recorded by the Los Angeles Weather Bureau in many years. The chill was caused by the fall of temperature in Tommy Woolwine's system when he saw that his last chance to grab the office of District Attorney had faded away. And the public paid the bills.

THE WHOLE COST.

A man was recently fined 50 cents a puff for smoking in the wrong place on a Los Angeles street car. But that's not all that the adventure cost him. He also paid the price of damaged lungs and the loss of the real sense of smell which afflicts the habitual smoker of tobacco, opium and other narcotics.

TELL THE TRUTH.

With the approach of another anniversary of the birth of George Washington, let us plead with the people of this republic to emulate the father of our country in the business of telling the truth. We say "business," because if truth-telling be made a business and were no longer to be regarded as a mere fad, there would not be nearly so many liars in the United States as there are now.

THE HOME OF STARS.

When you consider the fact that Los Angeles has the best climate on earth, and that it is operating more theaters than any other city of its size, while more are in contemplation or in course of erection, does it require a great stretch of the imagination to see the time when the best actors of the world and the best actresses will make our city their permanent place of residence, playing here steadily and regularly in stock?

GOOD RIDDANCE.

The closed shoppers up North have passed resolutions of sympathy with the Mexican insurrectos, and it is said that several hundred of them are on the way to the scene of conflict, where they will aid to overthrow Diaz. If these patriotic friends of Mexican freedom succeed in reaching the frontier it is to be hoped that our officials will be a little blind and not stop the exodus. If the revolution wins they will transfer their labor organization to the halls of Montezuma. If it fails they will be stood up against a wall and shot. In either event this country will be well rid of them.

BOOZE DOES IT.

"He is a good husband except when he is drinking," testified an injured wife in a San Francisco court the other day. The same may be said of many other men in their capacities as husbands as well as in different capacities.

Whisky is one of the strangest inventions in existence. It makes a man well when he is sick and makes him sick when he is well; it often makes a truthful man a liar and a liar a person of the strictest veracity; the gentlest man in the world becomes a devil after about the third round, and a miser has been known to spend his money like a drunken sailor when he had stowed a few jolts under his belt.

While whisky has its uses, still we think the world would be better off without it. Except for the purposes of the game of golf, liquor in all its forms can be dispensed with and the human race would be all the better for it.

A MOQUI MOTHER-IN-LAW.

Among the Moqui Indians the mother-in-law—if she is the husband's mother—is strictly "it." One of the requirements of a lawful wedding is that the bride must grind corn for her mother-in-law until that lady is satisfied. The grinding is done by pounding the grain in a stone mortar with a stone pestle. Sometimes, when the old lady is very exacting, the friends and wedding guests of the bride bring their mortars and pestles to the feast and enough corn is ground to last the mother-in-law until her next son grows to man's estate and wooes a dusky maiden.

The bride's mother is not permitted to exact the same or any analgous labor from her son-in-law. He escapes the payment of tribute. And why should he not? He is one of creation's lords and labor is beneath him. But bye and bye the suffragettes will get in among the Moquis and, as the almanacs say, "about this time a change may be expected."

A LOGICAL NON SEQUITUR.

The principle upon which the doctrine of the initiative seems to rest is that the people are so ignorant, so corrupt, so busy or so indifferent, that they cannot be trusted to elect an honest and capable Governor and members of a State Legislature, therefore the same ignorant and inefficient people can be trusted to frame and enact the laws themselves. This logical non sequitur is gravely and forcefully and persistently urged by journalists, and by orators who do not seem to comprehend the mathematical absurdity of their position.

An enlargement of this doctrine so as to adopt the initiative in Federal as well as State legislation would dispense with Congress as well as with State Legislatures altogether. If the people of Humboldt county are competent to propose and vote upon a law to regulate the construction and ownership and administration of wharves in San Diego, why are not the voters of Maine competent to frame a code of laws for the benefit or disadvantage of the people of Texas? or Florida? or Nebraska? The distance between these communities is only twice as great as between Eureka and Los Angeles, and the interests of the two communities are no more divergent. Why not elect or appoint Heney as a commissioner to amend the Constitution of the United States?

THE ATTACK ON OUR HARBOR.

To turn the control of the harbors of California over to a Board of State Commissioners to be appointed by the Governor would be to turn them over to San Francisco, and San Francisco never has failed and never will fail to advance her own interests at the expense of all other localities, and to do so without justice, without mercy and without remorse. The ships that will sail through the Panama Canal, loaded with goods to be consumed or used in New Mexico, in Arizona, in Southern Nevada, in Southern Utah and in all of California south of Santa Barbara, should be unloaded in San Pedro or San Diego. There is no more occasion for them to sail five hundred miles farther north to San Francisco than there is for them to sail to Portland or Seattle. Each city on this coast that possesses a harbor where deep-sea ships can unload at the wharves is entitled to its own trade empire and its own sphere of influence, and any law which shall take from Los Angeles any part of its commerce to force it to San Francisco would be not merely an injustice but an outrage.

Yet that is exactly what San Francisco is aiming at, and what she will accomplish if the bill to transfer the control of California harbors from the municipal authorities of each city to a State board shall become a law.

It would be in the power of such a board to establish rules and regulations which, while apparently uniform, would favor San Francisco at the expense of Los Angeles. It would be in the power of a State board to establish regulations which, though fair in phrase, would be unfair in essence. Los Angeles possesses natural and acquired advantages that will enable her to fix lower towage, wharfage and dockage rates than San Francisco. Why should she be compelled by a State board to forego those advantages? The Senator or Assemblyman from the counties south of and including Santa Barbara who votes to establish a State Commission to fix the government of the San Pedro harbor will be a traitor to his constituents? The legislator from any part of the State who votes for a law, the effect of which will be to unfairly benefit San Francisco at the cost of Los Angeles, will be guilty of an unjust act.

Southern California was developed in the first instance by eastern, and later by local capital and enterprise. San Francisco has never aided our growth. She has always gathered toll on highways that she never built, and obtained profits from argosies that she never launched.

Los Angeles is five hundred miles nearer Panama than San Francisco. Her harbor, although not so large, is commodious enough to accommodate all the commerce of the Pacific. The entrance to the San Pedro harbor is free from dangerous currents and rocks. The steamer Rio Janeiro would never have been sunk off San Pedro. The ocean there is free from fogs. The wharves in the harbor will be free from the grip of grafters.

Let San Francisco govern her own harbor in her own way. Los Angeles does not seek to interfere with her. Let the harbor of Los Angeles be governed by a municipal commission. Let each tub stand upon its own bottom. Let the San Francisco grafters keep their greedy hands away from our throat, either by the indirection of a State Board of Harbor Commissioners or otherwise.

FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND TO BE WASTED.

"George J. Gunrey"—whoever he may happen to be, is—whatever his trade other than "managing" the metal workers' strike in Los Angeles, a political, social and practical economist of the Doctor Tanner variety. He exults in the alleged fact that the sum of $500,000 has been "pledged" by closed-shop laborers in the East to "finance" a general strike of all the building trades of Los Angeles. He says: "The $500,000 pledge makes such a strike easy to handle. It will finance a strike of 6000 men six months and more."

If the closed-shop laborers in the East shall really contribute $500,000 to "finance" a strike in Los Angeles, and the money shall survive the rake-offs of the walking delegates and be distributed among 6000 strikers in the building trades, that would give each striker $80 with which to maintain his family and himself for six months, or $13.33 per month—less than 50 cents per day for each household.

Doctor Tanner lived for forty days without eating, but even he could not have continued the experiment for 180 days without great personal inconvenience, and it may be doubted if many of the proposed 6000 strikers would be able to endure the severe regimen that even a single man would be subjected to on $13.33 per month.

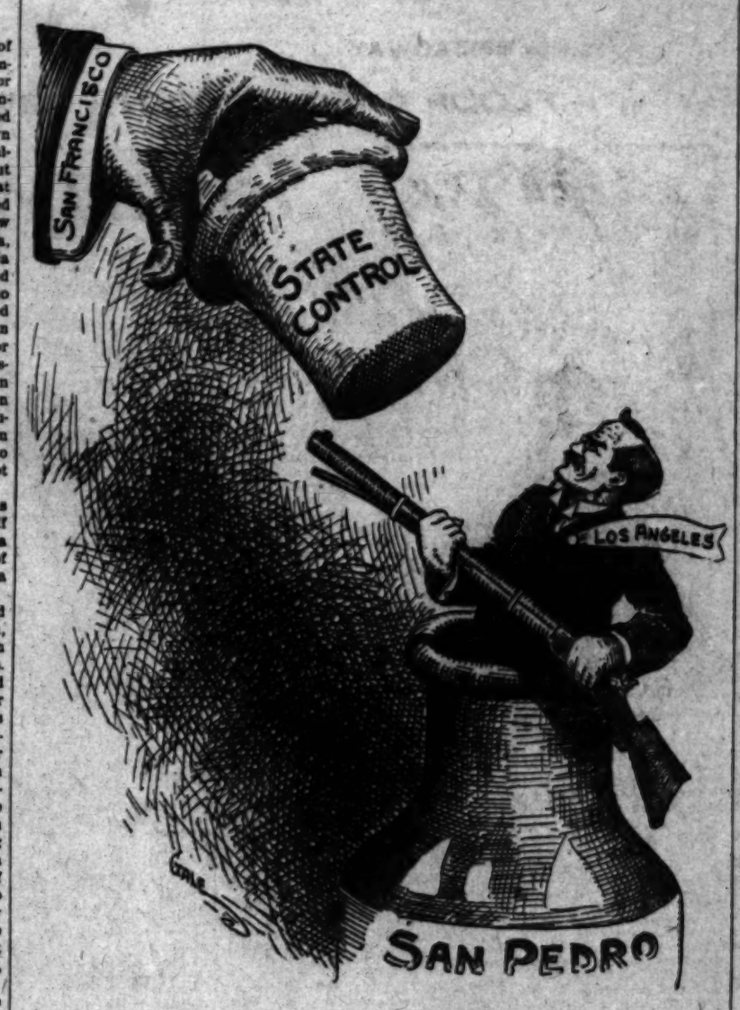
The threatened general strike in the building trades will hardly materialize this year, even with the aid of the $500,000 fund. Why should a plumber earning $5 a day by working on Brown's house throw up his job, join a sympathetic strike and accept 45 cents a day from the $500,000 fund, because a painter who is employed on Smith's home a mile away "strikes" for any reason, or without any reason? Brown pays the plumber all he asks. He allows him to work as few hours as he pleases. He does not offend him by hiring a non-union carpenter or plasterer to work on the same building. He has no influence over, or even an acquaintance with Smith—that oppressor of labor—who has dared to hire a non-union carpenter to repair his front porch.

Nevertheless the plumber strikes, and loses $4.66 a day for 150 days in order to vindicate the right of a worker at some other trade, for some other employer, to make that other employer run his business to suit a striking workman.

The tyrannical trio who have ruled San Francisco for years, and who have failed to rule Los Angeles for a single day, will again be foiled. The $500,000 which they will filch from eastern laborers—if they shall succeed in their larcenous scheme—will accomplish nothing. The people of Los Angeles will raise $5,000,000 if necessary to maintain here the industrial freedom they have always enjoyed.

And building will proceed as usual. If 6000 union mechanics shall be fools enough to throw down their tools because they cannot select their fellow workmen on the same jobs, and because they cannot dictate to their employers how they shall conduct their business, then 6000 non-union mechanics will take their places, and if a sufficient number of non-union workers cannot be found here they will be brought here in trainloads and given work and guarded from molestation.

Not For Our Harbor!



MARCH OF THE UNEMPLOYED.

The Industrial Workers of the World are gentlemen who are not industrious in any legitimate line of industry. They are not workers at anything in the world, or anywhere in the world, or for anybody in the world. Two hundred of them, animated by the same spirit that actuated the crusaders of old, and failing to persuade the employers of Portland, Or., to discharge real workers, organized an "on to Fresno" brigade to reinforce their brethren there who are still suffering from the cold-water treatment administered to them by the Sheriff of Fresno county. They boarded a freight train on the Southern Pacific road without going through the formality of obtaining tickets, and when requested by the conductor to vacate, expressed great surprise. They said that they understood that the recent application of Gov. Johnson's pedoneum to Herrin's terminal enabled all men to ride on the trains of that bloated, that accursed, that never-to-be-sufficiently-objurgated corporation—the Southern Pacific Railroad—without contributing to its financial resources. The conductor and train hands, aided by the officers at Medford, enlightened them as to their error, and then, in tyrannical disregard of the constitutional rights of labor, expelled them from the train.

They clothed themselves with curses as with a garment, and journeyed southward on foot. After walking a couple of miles, they held up and boarded another train and reached Ashland. There they were again expelled, and again went forward on foot. The ranchers along the line were selfish and inhospitable serfs of the railroad corporation, who unchained their bulldogs and stood at their front gates with rifles. Night came on, and brought with it a rainstorm. They went marching along in the darkness through the mud. At dawn the white grandeur of Shasta inspired them and they had scenery for breakfast.

They are not yet over the divide. Some of them will give up their tour at Redding. Others will leave at Red Bluff, others at Marysville, but at Sacramento they will be able to call on their friend at the Executive Mansion. He will doubtless aid them to push on to Fresno. But in the meantime the hard-hearted Sheriff of Fresno has been getting ready for them. He has had a number of teams at work replenishing the county rock pile, and has secured additional hose. If they should decline to prepare material for the betterment of the roads they will not be allowed to starve, but their diet will be frugal and will consist principally of mush. There is a new steam force pump in the County Jailyard, and those who prove ungrateful and indulge in foul language will receive a thoroughly enjoyable bath.

This week when we celebrate the birthday of George Washington, who was first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen, let us remember that his legs were so inadequate and unimpressive that the artist who painted the picture hanging in the hall of the House of Representatives had to borrow the legs of Gen. Smith, an officer of the Revolutionary War, for the picture.

The question what induced Adam to eat of the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden is discussed in some of the Eastern press. It is a fair inference, in our opinion, that Adam did not partake of the apple until he had been beguiled with a kiss. It is a way women have. Between kisses and tears they get all there is in it for them.

We are inclined to believe the statement of King George that he never married a daughter of Admiral Seymour, after having seen her pictures in the papers. The Georges have always been noted for their good taste.

Chapters of the Daughters of the Mexican Revolution will soon be organized.

SCIENCE PROGRESS.

The Eiffel Tower at Paris is to have special instruments installed for the purpose of transmitting accurate time to all ships at sea within a radius of 5000 kilometers or more. In the experiments made, shortly before the decisive moment (exactly at fifty-nine minutes past ten a.m. and fifty-nine minutes past eleven p.m.) the astronomer on duty, with one eye at the telescope, watches the hand of the clock, and sends the first electric signals to the wireless telegraphy station of the Champ de Mars. From there, immediately transmitted by radio-telegraphy, they travel immense distances, warning navigators and other wireless stations. Then exactly at the hour and twice again at intervals of two minutes the clockwork automatically establishes a contact, by means of which an electric manipulator in the Eiffel Tower sets up a discharge of Hertzian waves. And these waves, spreading through space, reach the limits of the immense circle of which the tower is the center, influencing all the receivers in this area and conveying to all, as it were, the beat of a heart which is felt in the pulsations of the remotest arteries.

The new volume of Knowledge opens with a remarkable article by Charles Darling in which he describes an interesting experiment which, if a certain temperature be kept up, results in perpetual motion. Some commercial aniline is poured into a glass beaker containing water and sinks to the bottom, but if the temperature is raised sufficiently it rises to the surface. Almost at once a large drop of aniline, an inch or more in diameter, detaches itself so slowly that all the details of its production, the formation of a neck, the rounding off and breaking away of the drop can be easily seen and photographed. The surprising part, however, is still to come, for the fallen drop begins gradually to rise slowly to the surface again and joins the mass of aniline. A new drop forms, and if the temperature of the water is maintained at 70 degrees C., the performance is continuous.

That the so-called draught is only a concentrated dose of fresh air, and that millions suffer for want of fresh air, certainly represents profound truths. Nevertheless, they leave us unimpressed, for much the same statements might be said of so many things, says the British Medical Journal.

Lead, for instance, when distributed through the substance of India rubber gloves is as useful to X-ray workers as fresh air to ordinary individuals; but when concentrated in the form of a bullet, exposure to its impact is apt to prove inconvenient. But, however, these things be, we adhere to our belief that draughts are dangerous.

It is not commonly understood that the draught is merely the primum movens, the immediate cause of the ill results experienced being in some cases, perhaps, a micro-organism, in others, perhaps, a toxin, with which the system would have been able to deal effectively but for the local depression of vitality brought about by exposure to a concentrated dose of fresh air.

W. E. Overbeck, chemist to a brewery in Grimsby, England, says he has discovered a method of taking from beer and stout the power to produce intoxication, while leaving the flavor, sparkle and nutritious qualities unimpaired. His method of making a temperance drink of beer is by subjecting lukewarm beer to a brisk current of carbonic gas, thus driving out the alcohol, which escapes in the form of minute bubbles. The quantity of alcohol expelled can be controlled by regulating the current of gas, so that any desired quantity can be allowed to remain, or every vestige of it driven forth, yet the beer so treated retains every one of its original properties except that of being able to induce intoxication.

Mr. Overbeck says that 52 expert brewers received samples of ordinary and dealcoholized beer, and that more than half of them were unable to distinguish one from the other. A few of these said that they detected some subtle difference.

Mr. Overbeck announces, too, that the alcoholic by-products, when removed from the beer, can be utilized in motor engines of all kinds, in place of petrol.

BURDETTE AT THE [illegible]

LII.

The Age of Anecdotage.

It dawned a few years ago when men began to be too busy to pay any attention to impractical and unreal and visionary things, such as art and poetry and literature. They were making too much money and making it too rapidly to waste the precious hours in sentimental nonsense and literary fripperies. They forgot that wealth was the most ephemeral thing on earth. The poverty of Columbus never occurred to them, or if it did, it was only to excite wonder that a poor man could accomplish anything which should cause his name to be remembered. They thought how much more easily Morgan or Rockefeller could have discovered this new world. And they didn't pause to wonder why it was that they didn't. Some of them, perhaps, think that they did.

This, also, is vanity.

Captains of Other Men's Industry became the famous men of the world and the time. The great names on the tongues of men were Harriman, Rockefeller, Morgan, Gould, Astor—Jack and his brethren—men whose names were graven on the tablets of ham covers, beef, beers, oil casks, and sugar, the profits whereof, like those of the fish industry, depended largely on the scales. When men read, as at times they may have done, from the annals of the past, the names of Draco, Solon, Herodotus, Thucydides, Socrates, Pericles, Phidias—they wondered vaguely what might have been the name of the trust under which they were organized. Men seemed to drop their books when they left college or university, and took up practical things—the real things of life which would outlive Shakespeare, Milton, Sappho, Schiller, Tom Hood, Carlyle, Wordsworth—such things as control of railroads, manipulation of stocks, cornering wheat, juggling freight rates, throttling competition, buying Legislatures and the general real business of the higher life.

With the comparative leisure that came to men who could make money faster than their wives could spend it—and that kept captains busy seven days a week—came a reawakening of the taste for literature acquired in college days and college associations. But literature and art are good friends but rather exacting ones. To the man who called on them, by automobile, to come and go with all speed and least possible waste of time, they accorded courteous and even encouraging reception. But they did not gather and clasp these occasional callers to their gentle hearts with hooks of steel, as they did the men who went without dinner to sit beside these jealous mistresses—who went cold and hungry and ragged for these exacting ones who said: "I want all or none of you."

Here, then, the publisher saw his opportunity. He put into the market volumes of tabloid literature on many subjects. "The World's Best Literature" came to the door of the busy man and found a high place in the gloomy and unfrequented room where he went occasionally to smoke and which he called his "library." This series of volumes, edited by a great man who never saw it until he received his presentation copy, contained some fifteen thousand slabs, chunks and slices of excellent writing, each fragment with a Melchizedekian pedigree, having neither beginning nor ending, and not much middle. "The World's Best Poetry" came out in the world's worst binding issued on the same method of selection. "The World's Great Orations" came forth from the busy presses, as much like the world's great orations as a panel of squared and polished samples of the woods of North America looked like the forests of Oregon or the great forests of the giant Sequoias. The age of tabloid culture was born. Books of quotations and selections multiplied. Correspondence schools guaranteed to impart in thirty days the perfect art of such oratory as Demosthenes and Cicero, Daniel Webster, Robert Ingersoll and Charles Sumner had attained by great and tedious toil. The facility of the cartoon and clever illustration enjoyed by Leech and Cruikshank was given to the disciple of art in the same way. "You furnish the money, and we'll furnish the genius." "Why wade through ten thousand pages of old books for four or five years, when we can lay the gist and heart of all the best books in the world right in your brain in thirty days.

Then the publishers began to specialize. They would make you a great lawyer or a great doctor. The press agent of a new type arose. He it is who, in the papers, prefaces a funny story, very good, very funny, very clever, and printed in the best books from the fourth to the twentieth century, with the copyright stating that "Senator Bluffem remarked the other day," or "a few evenings ago, at a little dinner in the Dummy Club, Cholly Flathead said," or etc., etc. The best families—at least, the wealthiest families—in the land are drawn on for these prefatory remarks every week, and the oldest jests since Samson's rather serious riddle are given, if not renewed life, at least the short-lived currency of counterfeits.

Then came the volumes devoted to after-dinner oratory and stories.

This adds a new terror to after-dinner speeches. We could stand the stories, with decent reverence for their hoary-headed antiquity. Because it is now permissible for the guests to converse during the relation of the dear old-time jests of the grandsires of the diners, though sometimes the crystal tear may glitter in the eyes of the auditors as memory recalls the pleasant transitions and transformations of the stories, beginning their career in the days of the old man's youth as historical romances about Wayne, and made bolder by familiarity, Gen. Washington or old Mad Anthony transferred themselves to one's own native village and were boldly related of old Lem Haskins and Bill Knowlton, and gradually, speaking in the first person, proclaimed themselves as "One time when I was—"

That might be endured if always the story had direct application to the topic under discussion. But that is rare. And when a pleasant-faced man with a complexion as clear as a girl's and straight blonde hair, begins a response to the toast, "The Personal Influence of a Truthful Life Upon Character," by saying: "I am like an old nigger down in Meridian, Mississippi," and the fiction which follows reveals that he is no more like an old nigger anywhere in character than he is in person, it naturally weakens his argument. One by one, men arise in their places and compare themselves with all manner of incomparable men for the foolish purpose of talking about something entirely different. Not a month ago I heard an eloquent clergyman in this city, who can make an excellent and timely speech, unmarred by a single story, arise and, speaking to a toast on "Civic Righteousness," declare himself to be like "an old Dutchman over in Milwaukee," an "Irishman who got drunk one day in Troy," "a negro woman in Louisville," and "Mark Twain's dog." Not one of these creatures did he resemble, let alone all of them. But he asserted that he did. And he closed his polyglot of anecdotes which made up his after-dinner speech by saying that he reminded himself "of a mule in Nodaway, Missouri." Which he certainly did, although I never knew before where the mule lived.

case and refinement, though no especial distinction.

Viola Barry, in a pretty ingenue role which she plays as prettily, makes her first appearance on the Burbank stage.

There are more to the cast, a whole lot more, and most of them are good.

"Matrimony" should be a run. I don't see how it can be hindered, unless the people who were there yesterday are forbidden by the police to plug the game.

The whole company exhibits the familiarity and speed engendered by the many rehearsals during the marathon of Mr. Arthur's long-winded "Fox."

Lewis S. Stone, Marjorie Rambeau and the Belasco Theater Company will tonight open the second week in "The Girl In Waiting," which during the past week has attracted audiences to the Belasco Theater that have taxed the Main-street playhouse to its capacity. Following the second week of "The Girl in Waiting" Clyde Fitch's play "The Truth" will be given.

Bright, new costumes throughout, three new song numbers that proved to be genuine hits, new draperies and considerable new scenery added to zip and dash on the part of the Hartman Company marked the opening of the eighth consecutive week of "The Campus" at the Grand yesterday. Walter De Leon's entrance song has been replaced with a lively "raggy" number that received many encores. "The Musical Hog," another one of the new pieces, is of a catchy, waltzy variety that makes it popular, while "Always Try To Please Your Neighbors, Too" is a number that shows the chorus dressed in night gowns.

John Cort and Oliver Morosco went to Pasadena yesterday afternoon. When asked why he was not looking at the premier of "Is Matrimony A Failure?" Cort replied: "That's business, and why in the world in Los Angeles, on a sunny Sunday with April breezes, should I be attending to business?"

Henri Gressit suggests that the answer to "Is Matrimony A Failure?" is "The Merry Widow."

Henri was attending to business, and that, too, in Los Angeles on a sunny Sunday with April breezes.

Porter J. White and his company, in a sketch, "The Visitor" by his brother, Oliver White, will headline the new Orpheum bill opening at today's matinee. The sketch is promised to be unusual, with a finish that is a distinct surprise.

Eight acts will form the bill which will open at the Los Angeles Theater this afternoon. First among the new arrivals are the Three Alverettas, a trio of comedy acrobats who stand foremost among the best entertainers of their character. For many seasons they were one of the features of Ringling Brothers Circus and their engagement in vaudeville has proved even more successful than their work with the tent shows.

Bobby Barry, who was the first "Little Johnny Jones" to be seen in Los Angeles, is featured with "The Girl in the Taxi," which will be seen at the Mason Operahouse next week.

For the first time since last October, the Hamburger Majestic Theater is dark this week. It will be so for only one week, however. Henry W. Savage's production of the "Merry Widow" being scheduled to reopen the theater next Sunday night, with Miss Mabel Wilson and Charles Meakins heading the cast.

REAL ESTATE MEN TO BANQUET.

WILL BE GUESTS OF CROWN CITY REALTY BOARD.

Object of the Banquet is to Get Better Acquainted and Exchange Ideas—Funeral of Deceased Head of Elks' Lodge Was Impressive and Attended by Throngs.

(Office of The Times, 36 S. Raymond avenue.)

PASADENA, Feb. 20.—Real estate men from many cities of Southern California will fraternize at the Hotel Maryland this evening. It will be decidedly a "shop talk" affair. The speeches will be preceded by a dinner. A programme has been arranged with C. J. Brainard as toastmaster. William Garland of Los Angeles will explain why the real estate business is a "dignified profession;" E. E. Gillen of Pomona will advise as to the benefits of "co-operation;" and Ira Sykes of Pasadena will talk on "commissions."

The object of the banquet is to get acquainted and exchange ideas. It will be given under the auspices of the Pasadena Realty Board. It is expected that consolidation of city and county governments and consolidation of various cities will be features of the evening, because many of the real estate men of Southern California are particularly interested in keeping things on the move and while the representatives of each community will fight for their particular town, they all realize the advantages of co-operation.

The Pasadena real estate men will assert that Pasadena has an abundance of water and are opposed to consolidation, on general principles.

ELKS FUNERAL.

One of the largest funerals ever held in Pasadena was that held yesterday afternoon at Elks Hall, when the brothers and friends gathered to pay their last respects to the memory of Emil J. Muller, who at the time of his death was exalted ruler of Pasadena Lodge No. 672, B.P.O.E. The hall and corridors, which will hold nearly a thousand people, were crowded long before time for the service and nearly as many more were unable to get in. The funeral and burial ceremonies were conducted in accordance with the ritualistic work of the order. The eulogy was delivered by Harry M. Tichnor and the music was furnished by a quartette, consisting of W. L. Jones, George W. Clark, J. C. Bragdon and Royal Ward. The pallbearers were the past exalted rulers of the Pasadena lodge. The floral offerings were among the most beautiful ever seen in Pasadena. A great piece was sent by Santa Barbara, Los Angeles No. 99 sent a large wreath, Pasadena Lodge No. 672 sent a great elk's head standing six feet high, officers of Pasadena Lodge, a broken wheel; Exalted Rulers' Association, a beautiful harp; Ladies' Afternoon Club; Decorators' Association, a pallet; Santa Ana, a wreath; Alhambra members of the Pasadena Lodge, a large wreath.

YOU GET WHAT YOU WANT.

"The man who wants indecent things gets them. There are decent homes in this city and there are men who are looking for mud holes; they are not satisfied with decency. No man can be happy who is not absolutely the master of himself and who does not acknowledge the supremacy of Jesus Christ," said Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, in a strong address before the men's club of the Y.M.C.A. at the First Baptist Church, yesterday afternoon, which bristled with epigrams from start to finish. The subject of the address was "What Man Needs Most."

"What man needs above all things is a backbone and will power to want to do right and then do it," said the speaker. "The power to discern right from wrong and then do right. We have too many weak-kneed people here. If you want a clean town you can have it. If you want a red light district you can have it. If you want good, honest men at the head of your city government you can have them. Find out who are the men you want and then elect them.

"You have an election coming on. I don't know anything about the men who are running for the offices, and I don't care, but if you men want a good honest man for Mayor and the same kind of men for Councilmen you can have them if you will stick together. When you want to do the right thing you can do it, but the trouble with you is that you don't want to do it and you don't do it. The trouble is we don't stand together. Most politicians can trust to the ignorance of the people to elect whomever they want. Don't listen to the politicians against your discernment for honesty.

"If you are going to be a man you must follow the laws of God and live in harmony with them. The appeal I make to you men is that Jesus Christ came into this world to make men. You run off after all sorts of isms but you get nowhere. You cannot succeed long doing wrong. You can't break God's laws and live long. Sometimes you can live longer than other times. If you fall off a building God's law of gravity will crack your neck. If you disregard God's laws of digestion you will succeed a little while, but not long. When a man cannot tell the difference between right and wrong or between decency and indecency he is doomed for hell and he might as well be there now as hereafter. A town is just as decent as its government and its government is just as decent as the people that live in it. If you want a decent town and a decent government and your people are decent you will have it."

PRIMARIES THIS WEEK.

Entries for the straw primary, which will be held Thursday of this week, will close today. According to the rule laid down by the Committee of Twenty-one, each candidate for Mayor must have his petition, for entry, signed by one hundred legal voters, and each candidate for Councilman must have his petition signed by twenty-five. To date those who have signified their intention of being on the straw primary are William Thum and R. L. Metcalf, for Mayor; Harley Newell, F. H. Shutt and W. T. Davies, for Councilman from the First Ward; W. T. Root, William Easterbrook, for Councilman from the Fifth Ward; C. W. Rhodes, for Councilman-at-large. In practically all of the pulpits of the city churches yesterday announcements were made urging the members to get out to the straw primaries and to work for the best men. Whether it is the intention of the various church organizations to centralize on any of the candidates was not stated, although it is rumored that they will support Metcalf, Davies and Rhodes.

ACCIDENTS AND RAIDS.

While making a fast run to raid a negro gambling and disorderly joint, late Saturday night, an automobile driven by C. H. Ayres in which were Police Captain Copping, Sergt. Longley and a squad of patrolmen, collided with a motorcycle ridden by G. W. Thompson at the corner of Union street and Fair Oaks avenue. Thompson was thrown from his machine and painfully injured. He was taken to the Emergency Hospital. The officers continued on their journey to the corner of South Raymond avenue and California street, where they "pulled" the oint, which is owned by George Clark. Four negro men and two women were gathered in and taken to the Police Station. It is alleged they were drinking and gambling, but in some way Clark was not found. Several months ago Clark was arrested and sentenced to 100 days in the City Jail. He served his time and was a "trusty" about the jail, working around in the city parks during the daytime just for the exercise.

Motorcycle Officer E. W. Patrick was severely injured Saturday afternoon in a collision with an automobile near the corner of Hudson avenue and East Colorado street. The automobile was driven by D. G. Carder of No. 1029 North Marengo avenue. Patrick was running east on Colorado street when Carder is said to have crossed the street directly in front of Patrick.

Contractor Charles A. Baldwin states that he will appear before the City Council tomorrow and charge the Mayor and Council with having broken faith with him in investigating alleged defective city paving. Baldwin appeared before the Council last Tuesday and charged that several of the jobs of paving recently completed which did not come up to specifications were accepted by the Street Superintendent. The Mayor and Council promised Baldwin to accompany him on an inspection trip. They made the trip, but did not invite Baldwin, and instead took Street Superintendent Beyer, who, according to the Mayor, satisfied the Council that the work referred to by Baldwin was done in first-class manner. Baldwin states that he can prove his contention and will demand an investigation. He has done much of the city paving and avers he can get the testimony of several other contractors to the effect that the city has been getting a lot of poor work done. Should Baldwin succeed in proving his allegations, it is stated there will be no end to the trouble which will follow.

NEWS BRIEFS.

A matter of some merit is being discussed by many of the city tax-payers in a movement to establish salaries for tnhe trustees. While they carry the necessary power to set their own salaries they have not done so and an effort is now being made to reimburse them for the services rendered.

It is a matter of record that they spend many long hours, four evenings of each month, pondering over the many matters submitted for their consideration and it is suggested that a salary of $200 yearly would be appreciated. South Pasadena is the only city in Los Angeles county not paying its trustees.

Soldiers' Home.

PRINCELY HEART OF A YETERAN.

GIVES OF HIS PITTANCE WITH RARE GENEROSITY.

Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Is Given Two Hundred Dollars and Children's Home Gets Liberal Donation—Soldiers' Home Ball Team Defeated.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Feb. 19.—William Couse, a veteran in this home, should be assigned a niche in the Hall of Fame. One would scarcely expect to find among aged heroes, passing the remants of their lives at a Soldiers' Home, one who derives his greatest pleasure in contributing his all to philanthropy, yet such is the character of William Couse.

He is in his eighty-first year and minus his right leg. So modestly does he conduct his offerings, that it might have never come to light were it not for its incidental mention by Surgeon McNary, with whom he sometimes consults.

Couse donated to the Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the sum of $200 a few days ago, and to "show his faith," he said, "in the conduct of the Belle White Children's Home," he contributed $25.

When seen today he had just returned from a ramble in his wheel chair through the corridors of the hospital, and though not averse to talking on the subject of his gift, he regarded the matter as little worth the telling.

"You see," he said, "I'm an old fellow, on his last legs; I am without kin to whom I might leave anything; my personal wants are but trifling, and the surplus has been accumulating uselessly in the bank. So I just thought I would save future trouble regarding it, by giving all my surplus to some worthy cause. After all, it is such a trifle by contrast with the many needs and by what others give." He in his grandeur of modesty, did not think that his gift of "all my surplus," placed that affering on heights that a Rockefeller or a Carnegie, for all their worthy gifth, had not begun to reach.

Couse, besides having served in the United States Navy from 1856 to 1862, served in Company A, Second California Cavalry. He is a native of New York, and came across the plains in 1851, and has followed prospecting from one end of the coast to the other, most of his life.

DISCUSS COMING ELECTION.

Glendale Citizens Meet and Arrange Plans for Getting Out Big Vote on Bonds.

GLENDALE, Feb. 19.—A meeting was held at the home of F. L. Muhleman, No. 1211 Maple avenue, last night for the purpose of discussing the coming election for the voting of $15,000 for the purchasing of sites for public building and the erection of a city hall in this city. At this meeting were chosen ten citizens from the east side of the city and ten from the west, these men meeting in conjunction with the City Trustees. Arrangements for the election were practically completed. There is considerable speculation in this city as to whether or not the bonds will carry. Some people go so far as to say that they will be defeated two to one, while others are confident that it will take very little effort to get the required number of tallies. That the bonds will receive open opposition is sure, whether the present proposed sites are retained or not.

SAN PEDRO MAN ENDS LIFE AFTER A QUARREL.

Neighbors Assert That His Moodiness Was Caused by Jealousy and That It Was Wholly Unwarranted. Was a Member of Eagles Which Will Bury Him.

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 19.—August Carlston, aged 36 years, a lumber surveyor, residing at No. 1227 Palo Verdes street, committed suicide shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon by shooting himself through the right temple. Death was instantaneous.

Carlston had resided here for fifteen years and had many friends. He leaves a widow and one small child. Lately he has been moody and morose, due, it is asserted by neighbors, to unwarranted jealousy of Mrs. Carlston. He was Mrs. Carlston's second husband, she having been divorced from the first. Two children, from her first marriage, reside with the family. Carlston's unreasonable fits of jealousy led to small quarrels with his wife, and he had, it is alleged, threatened suicide on several occasions.

He returned home shortly after noon today, and after a slight argument with his wife, remarking "that he might as well kill himself as not," walked into his bedroom. A few seconds later a pistol shot rang out, and when Mrs. Carlston reached him life was extinct.

The deceased was a member of San Pedro Aerie of Eagles, which will take charge of the funeral.

AGONY WILL SOON BE OVER.

Tropico Will Vote on Matter of Incorporation the First Week in March, Ending an Old Fight.

TROPICO, Feb. 19.—At a recent meeting of the County Supervisors final action was taken relative to the incorporation of Tropico as a city of the sixth class and March 7 designated as the date when the election will be held. Davenport, and Black's real estate office, at the corner of Brand boulevard and Tropico avenue, is designated the voting place.

The territory included in the proposed incorporation limits is that originally suggested, with the exception of Forest Lawn Cemetery and a small portion of territory adjacent to the cemetery, which was petitioned out. A number of citizens, desiring to annex to Glendale, presented a petition asking that the eastern portion of Tropico, including practically all territory east of 150 west of Brand boulevard be not included in the proposed incorporated district. In reference to this petition the Supervisors stated that they did not wish to interfere in a local fight, which the proposed annexation scheme has resolved itself into, therefore the Supervisors deemed it more advisable, after deliberate consideration, to allow Tropico to incorporate, as a city of the sixth class rather than have the town divided.

Frank H. Muhleman, attorney of Glendale; A. M. Watson, W. C. Wattles, Emil Fram, F. R. Ferry, Charles Murray and Hal H. Davenport appeared before the Board of Supervisors in behalf of annexation to Glendale. The Tropico citizens appearing before the Supervisors in behalf of incorporation, were: Frank H. Davis, president of the Tropico Chamber of Commerce; Clyde R. Carmack, E. W. Richardson, C. A. Bancroft, George Friedgen, Stuart M. Street, Robert Devine, Andy Stephenson and Attorney Frederick Baker. Attorney W. F. Haas of Los Angeles represented the Forest Lawn Cemetery Association.

SAWTELLE.

SAWTELLE, Feb. 19.—The members of the Women's Club are taking the initiative in a movement for an exposition which is planned to give a display of things made in Sawtelle. March 10 is the date suggested for the affair, which is to be used in gathering the nucleus for a building fund.

A mass meeting of the religious workers of the several denominations of the city has been called at the Methodist Church for tomorrow night, when a church federation will be organized.

Glory Hole Gold ---- The Greatest Opportunity Ever Offered in Los Angeles

High Grade Ore on Exhibition by People Who Have No Interest in a Few Others in Rushing the Development of the Richest Gold Discovery of Recent Years. Ore Half Gold Creates Excitement Among Men.

There has just been placed on exhibition in the window of the Palace, at 218 West Third street, between Spring and Main, the richest gold ore ever dug out of the ground, coming from the mine operated by the Salome Bonanza Mines Company, in a new camp to Los Angeles, on the new Arizona & California railroad from Los Angeles and Phoenix. Ore half gold is enough to create excitement in Los Angeles.

The Salome Bonanza Mines Company is composed of men being controlled by the Halls of Arizona, headed by [illegible], one of the town of Salome and a prominent mining man of Arizona, who have been going ahead alone with the development of the mine, using their own money to build roads, establish camps and develop the property and are now and have been getting ready for a big boom. The general sentiment in other business men and the support expected from other sources has made it now necessary for others in pushing the development of the Glory Hole. The mine is generally conceded by mining men who have gone to see the property discovered in recent years, and the Halls have been willing to trust the judgment of the property by spending their own money. Mr. D. W. Hall, the president of the Salome Bonanza Mines Company, is known and has asked us to assist him in finances in order to assist him in pushing the development of what he says is the greatest mining proposition ever offered in Los Angeles. We have seen it and everyone we have talked to who has seen the property says it is a big proposition. Mr. Hall says:

"We have the best gold proposition found in Arizona. We have proved it. I believe that with development it is going to make the greatest gold mine ever opened up in Arizona—and I have staked my reputation and my judgment with its own money. This property is now in my hands and no one can buy the control of the property. We are going to keep it. We have taken the first chance and we have found a great big property and a rich one, and every day's work is showing our opening up big bodies of bonanza ore the like of which I never saw before in my life, much of it running over a quarter of a ounce in gold, and we are not taking it out in carload lots, either, but we have ore that would be worth over Ten Million Dollars, but we have not taken it out. We have found this ore and after doing a great deal of work, we have found it to be not a shallow shaft work, we have determined the extent of the property and now know how and where to work to open up the ore bodies. We have to do now is to push the work of development of the property. We have come for this purpose I am here now. We haven't enough money to push the work at this time to push the work as fast as I want to do it. We want to get good people with us to do it. We have money enough to know what to expect, and all we want is people who want to make their money and take the same chance we do, of course, knowing that we have already spent has eliminated many of the chances and we are now at a point where we know every day we are getting a certain of success and large bodies of ore. We have money enough to know what we can push the workings to the right point. We have proved the existence of ore deposits in the Glory Hole, the richest mine discovered in recent years. For every dollar we are putting into it we expect to take out hundreds. We are now down to the main ore body. So far we have found no walls to the ore and feeders running out from the main ore body, and we have gone down a foot hole in less than a week isn't bad for little money, speaks for itself. Look at it. And so does the report of the assayers and graphs. Every man that gets in with us ought to make money. Every cent he puts in. We have got a hill of the richest ore in the Los Angeles, that hasn't hardly been touched. Look at the buildings in Los Angeles, that haven't hardly been touched. Do you come to think that just this little room full of ore, that is now showing you would be worth about $25,000,000. You can see for yourself good over our showings and chances of success. That and everyone that gets in with us will get a square deal. That is all we can honestly do in a mining proposition. We have seen enough of the most cat mining stock jobbing proposition such as Los Angeles has seen and by which they have been robbed of so much money. This is a real mine and an honest gamble and we are asking people to come in with the expectation and full knowledge that they are risking a lot of money out of it or lose what we put into it. We don't want the money of widows or orphans. We don't want the money of people who can't stand the chance of losing it, but we do want people who can afford to invest and are willing to go in with us and take the chance of losing their money. We have got a good property, and every man that gets in with us will get a square deal. We will come out. If we win as we think and have a good property we will be all winning and everyone interested will make a lot of money. We are honest? And if we lose the Halls will have spent their money and we won't lose. It is the Glory Hole, the real gold mine, and there is a big bill waiting to be dug out. Are you with us? Are you in the bill waiting to be dug out. Are you with us? Are you in the bill waiting to be dug out. Are you with us? Are you in the

Both Caught.

METZLER'S PAL ALSO INSIDE.

Catch Alleged Confederate By Phone Call.

Youth Sobs Out Confession To the Officers.

Two Plan Daring Robbery of Bank's Mail Box.

A secret code, made up of a combination of telegraphy and shorthand, discovered in the room of Herman W. Metzler at Covina, Saturday, and a desire expressed to Deputy Sheriff Van Vliet by Metzler that he wished to telephone to his chum, landed R. F. Stiles of Oklahoma in the County Jail, yesterday.

The robberies at the Covina postoffice which culminated in the arrest of Metzler at the point of a shotgun in the hands of Postmaster Matthews had been carefully planned, and the two young men were on the high road to become successful and dangerous criminals.

Metzler, while en route to the County Jail Saturday, stoutly maintained his innocence, but kept begging the Deputy Sheriff to telephone to Pasadena and locate Stiles, who, he said, would get him out of trouble. With a strong suspicion that Stiles was also incriminated, Postmaster Matthews at once swore out a complaint, and within ten minutes after a telephone message had been sent to Pasadena, Stiles was in custody.

Stiles was immediately taken to Covina by Van Vliet and confronted by Harry B. Raney, cashier of the First National Bank of Azusa. He confessed to being a partner in the crime of extracting checks from letters put in the Covina postoffice boxes. Raney was the man to whom Stiles presented the checks after they had been turned over to him by young Metzler. After Stiles had written a signed confession of his part in the robberies, he broke down.

"This will be a blow to a good girl in Pasadena," said he.

THE CODE.

The two young men are now confronted by a State prison sentence of from seven to fourteen years if convicted. Both are from Guthrie, Okla. The room of Metzler at Covina, when searched by Constable Saunders, showed that the lad had been toiling away on lessons in the code, supplied him by Stiles, who was living at Ocean Park. The letters to Metzler were written in code and translated. In one Stiles expressed impatience that Metzler had not learned faster, claiming that they would never "get down to business." Metzler's suitcase was also packed with expensive silverware, evidently stolen. There was no other sign of loot in the room. Stiles had shipped all his belongings to his friend on last Friday, and was in Covina on Saturday. It is evident that the boys planned another robbery and a "getaway."

The checks on the First National Bank of Azusa for $29.76 and $15.05 were the undoing of the scheme. They had been forwarded to the Covina National Bank. Decoy letters were several times taken, and in some instances stuffed back into the postoffice box when Metzler found that they did not contain money. It was one of these decoy letters that Metzler had in his hand when Postmaster Matthews leaped from the closet door about twenty feet away and drove the young fellow into a corner at the point of a gun.

The prisoners were inordinate lovers of the cheap melodrama of moving pictures, and Metzler's room contained many dime novels. Both men are about twenty-two years old and were spending money freely on two girls in Pasadena. The capture of the two men is considered a clever one. Though detectives were at work on the case for a month, the credit belongs to Postmaster Matthews and Deputy Sheriff Van Vliet.

The confession by Stiles now in the possession of Matthews is as follows: "I voluntarily state that on Saturday, February 4, 1911, I cashed two checks at the First National bank at Azusa, said checks being drawn by the Charter Oak Citrus Association, and amounting to $15.05 and $29.76 respectively. Said checks were given to me by Herman Metzler. After I had cashed the checks I divided the money half and half with said Herman Metzler. Above mentioned checks were endorsed by C. N. Allison. R. F. Stiles."

ENEMIES FIGHT; ONE IS SLAIN.

MEXICAN ARRESTED CHARGED WITH MAN'S DEATH.

Battle Takes Place in Commercial Street Rooming-house and Men Battle With Knife and Chair—Unequal Combat Follows Quarrel Over Matter Not Learned.

Long-standing enmity resulted in a fight in which Austino Martinez was stabbed and beaten in his room at No. 733 Commercial street by E. Juarez early yesterday morning. He died in the Receiving Hospital late in the afternoon. Juarez is held in the City Jail and a complaint charging murder will probably be filed against him this morning.

Martinez and Juarez had been staying at No. 733 Commercial street, according to other Mexicans living in the house. They became bitter enemies and generally came to blows when they encountered.

The police were told that Martinez, after having threatened to kill Juarez, entered his room with a knife. Juarez seized a chair and the men sprang at each other.

Juarez was cut in several places and Martinez was beaten to the floor with the chair. His skull was fractured.

STAMPS OUT TUBERCULOSIS.

Tulare County Specialist Making Special Investigation of the Condition of Cows and Hogs.

TULARE, Feb. 18.—Dr. E. A. Pourppirt, with the sanction of Dr. Rey, the county livestock inspector, is making an extended investigation of the cattle of the dairy district of which Tulare is the center, with a view to determining the percentage of tubercular cattle being used here for milch purposes.

While there is a sever warfare going on at pesent between the dairymen and the veterinaries, with respect to the danger of infection of drinking the milk from tubercular cattle, the present livestock inspector will attempt to show the farmers that their own best interests are served when they weed out from their herds every animal afflicted with this plague.

Dr. Pourppirt is also conducting a series of experiments to show the ranchers that tuberculosis in milch cows and steers is almost always communicated to hogs raised upon the same ranch, and as hogs are an important by-product of the modern dairy the experiments will be valuable ones.

BLESSED (?) WITH CANDIDATES.

Exeter With a City Election Ahead Has Almost as Many Candidates as Votes.

EXETER, Feb. 19.—Exeter is blessed with a veritable embarrassment of choice for city officers to be selected when the incorporation proposal is voted upon the 25th of February.

Of the list thus far brought out for city trustees the voters may choose among the following: W. P. Ballard, L. L. Brown, O. L. Catlin, T. J. Clarkson, C. B. Davidson, H. E. Davis, J. F. Dungan, J. G. Kinkman, P. A. Mis, P. T. Ostrander, R. H. Owen, E. R. Pipenburg, George Waddell.

Charles E. Mackey is the only aspirant for City Marshall and there is but one official announcement for City Clerk, that of C. R. McEvers. E. H. Miles, F. W. Mixter and U. G. Knight are the candidates for City Treasurer.

Through the action of the Board of Supervisors in cutting down the proposed annexation territory by almost 200 acres, the chances of the incorporation have been seriously, though not necessarily, fatally injured.

DUAL OBJECT BOYS' BRIGADE.

Health of Bodies as Well as Salvation of Soul.

Prominent Speakers Indorse Military Training.

Members Pledged to Refrain From Every Vice.

"If more boy's were in the Boys' Brigade there would be fewer boys before the Juvenile court," said Judge Curtis D. Wilbur yesterday afternoon at the First Congregational Church, in addressing the five local companies of the largest religious organization for boys in the world.

Others taking part in the programme were: L. M. Larkin, John P. Stores, superintendent of the Hilburn Congregational Church, at Pomona; Rev. William Horace Day and L. G. Bryant, president of the California Executive Committee of the Brigade.

Excellent reports were made concerning the work in California. Nine churches in the State have strong brigades, and every members has taken a pledge not to use tobacco liquor or profane language. The headquarters for the State are at No. 1622 West Seventh street, this city. The boys have guns and uniforms, and drill like real soldiers. Once a year they have a big summer encampment. more than 300 boys enjoyed the last camping expedition at Catalina.

Speaking of the spirit of the brigade, Judge Wilbur said that it was essentially a fighting spirit, but he insisted that the fighting spirit is a good thing if directed in the right channels.

Rev. William Horace Day, pastor of the First Congregational Church, introduced Rev. L. M. Larkin, who spoke for twenty minutes on the subject "Be a Man."

In part Mr. Larkin said:

"Not long ago I was talking to the head physician of a great sanatorium in the East and he told me that there were about 5 per cent. of the patients brought to the institution, which were not given special attention because they were so near to death that it was considered better to give more attention to those who might be cured. He said that the main idea was to cure those who had a chance for life. 'Still,' said this doctor to me, 'when we have done all in our power to cure them in body and mind, there yet remains a part of their natures that man cannot heal and that is the spiritual nature. We do our best and admonish them in every way to live clean, sober lives, and when we have tried every other expedient and they will not use our advice, we look them straight in the eye and say to them be a man. There is no chemical known to science which can cure a sick soul. That is left for the master Master, the pattern for all men."

SEEKING THE CURE.

John P. Stores of Pomona, speaking of the boys' brigade, said that the time was passed for the organization of reform societies and that the time had come to organize societies to prevent the necessity for reform societies.

"We are not trying to cure the drunkard," said he, "so much as we are endeavoring to prevent boys from becoming addicted to the drink habit. We are trying to get into sympathy with the boys, and to realize that they need more than prayer meetings, to play as well as to pray. We are working for the health of their bodies as well as the salvation of their souls. We are not asking them who wrote the Pentateuch, but we are telling them the beauty of observing the golden rule. We are not dwelling so much on the sufferings of Jesus as on the glory of His life and of our Father's care of his children.

Mr. Stores gave a brief history of the work of the brigade in his own church in Pomona, showing that the organization has grown from a membership of twenty in 1908, to a membership of over 100 in 1911.

L. G. Bryant, president of the brigade of Californit, spoke of the State organization and appealed to all churches to stand by the boys in this work. In conclusion, he said that there were 6000 members of the brigade in Glasgow, Scotland, and that judging from the way in which this city is growing, Los Angeles should, within a few years, have 12,000 members.
